In the beginning . . .

we were just a note,

a catchy tune,

to be recorded.

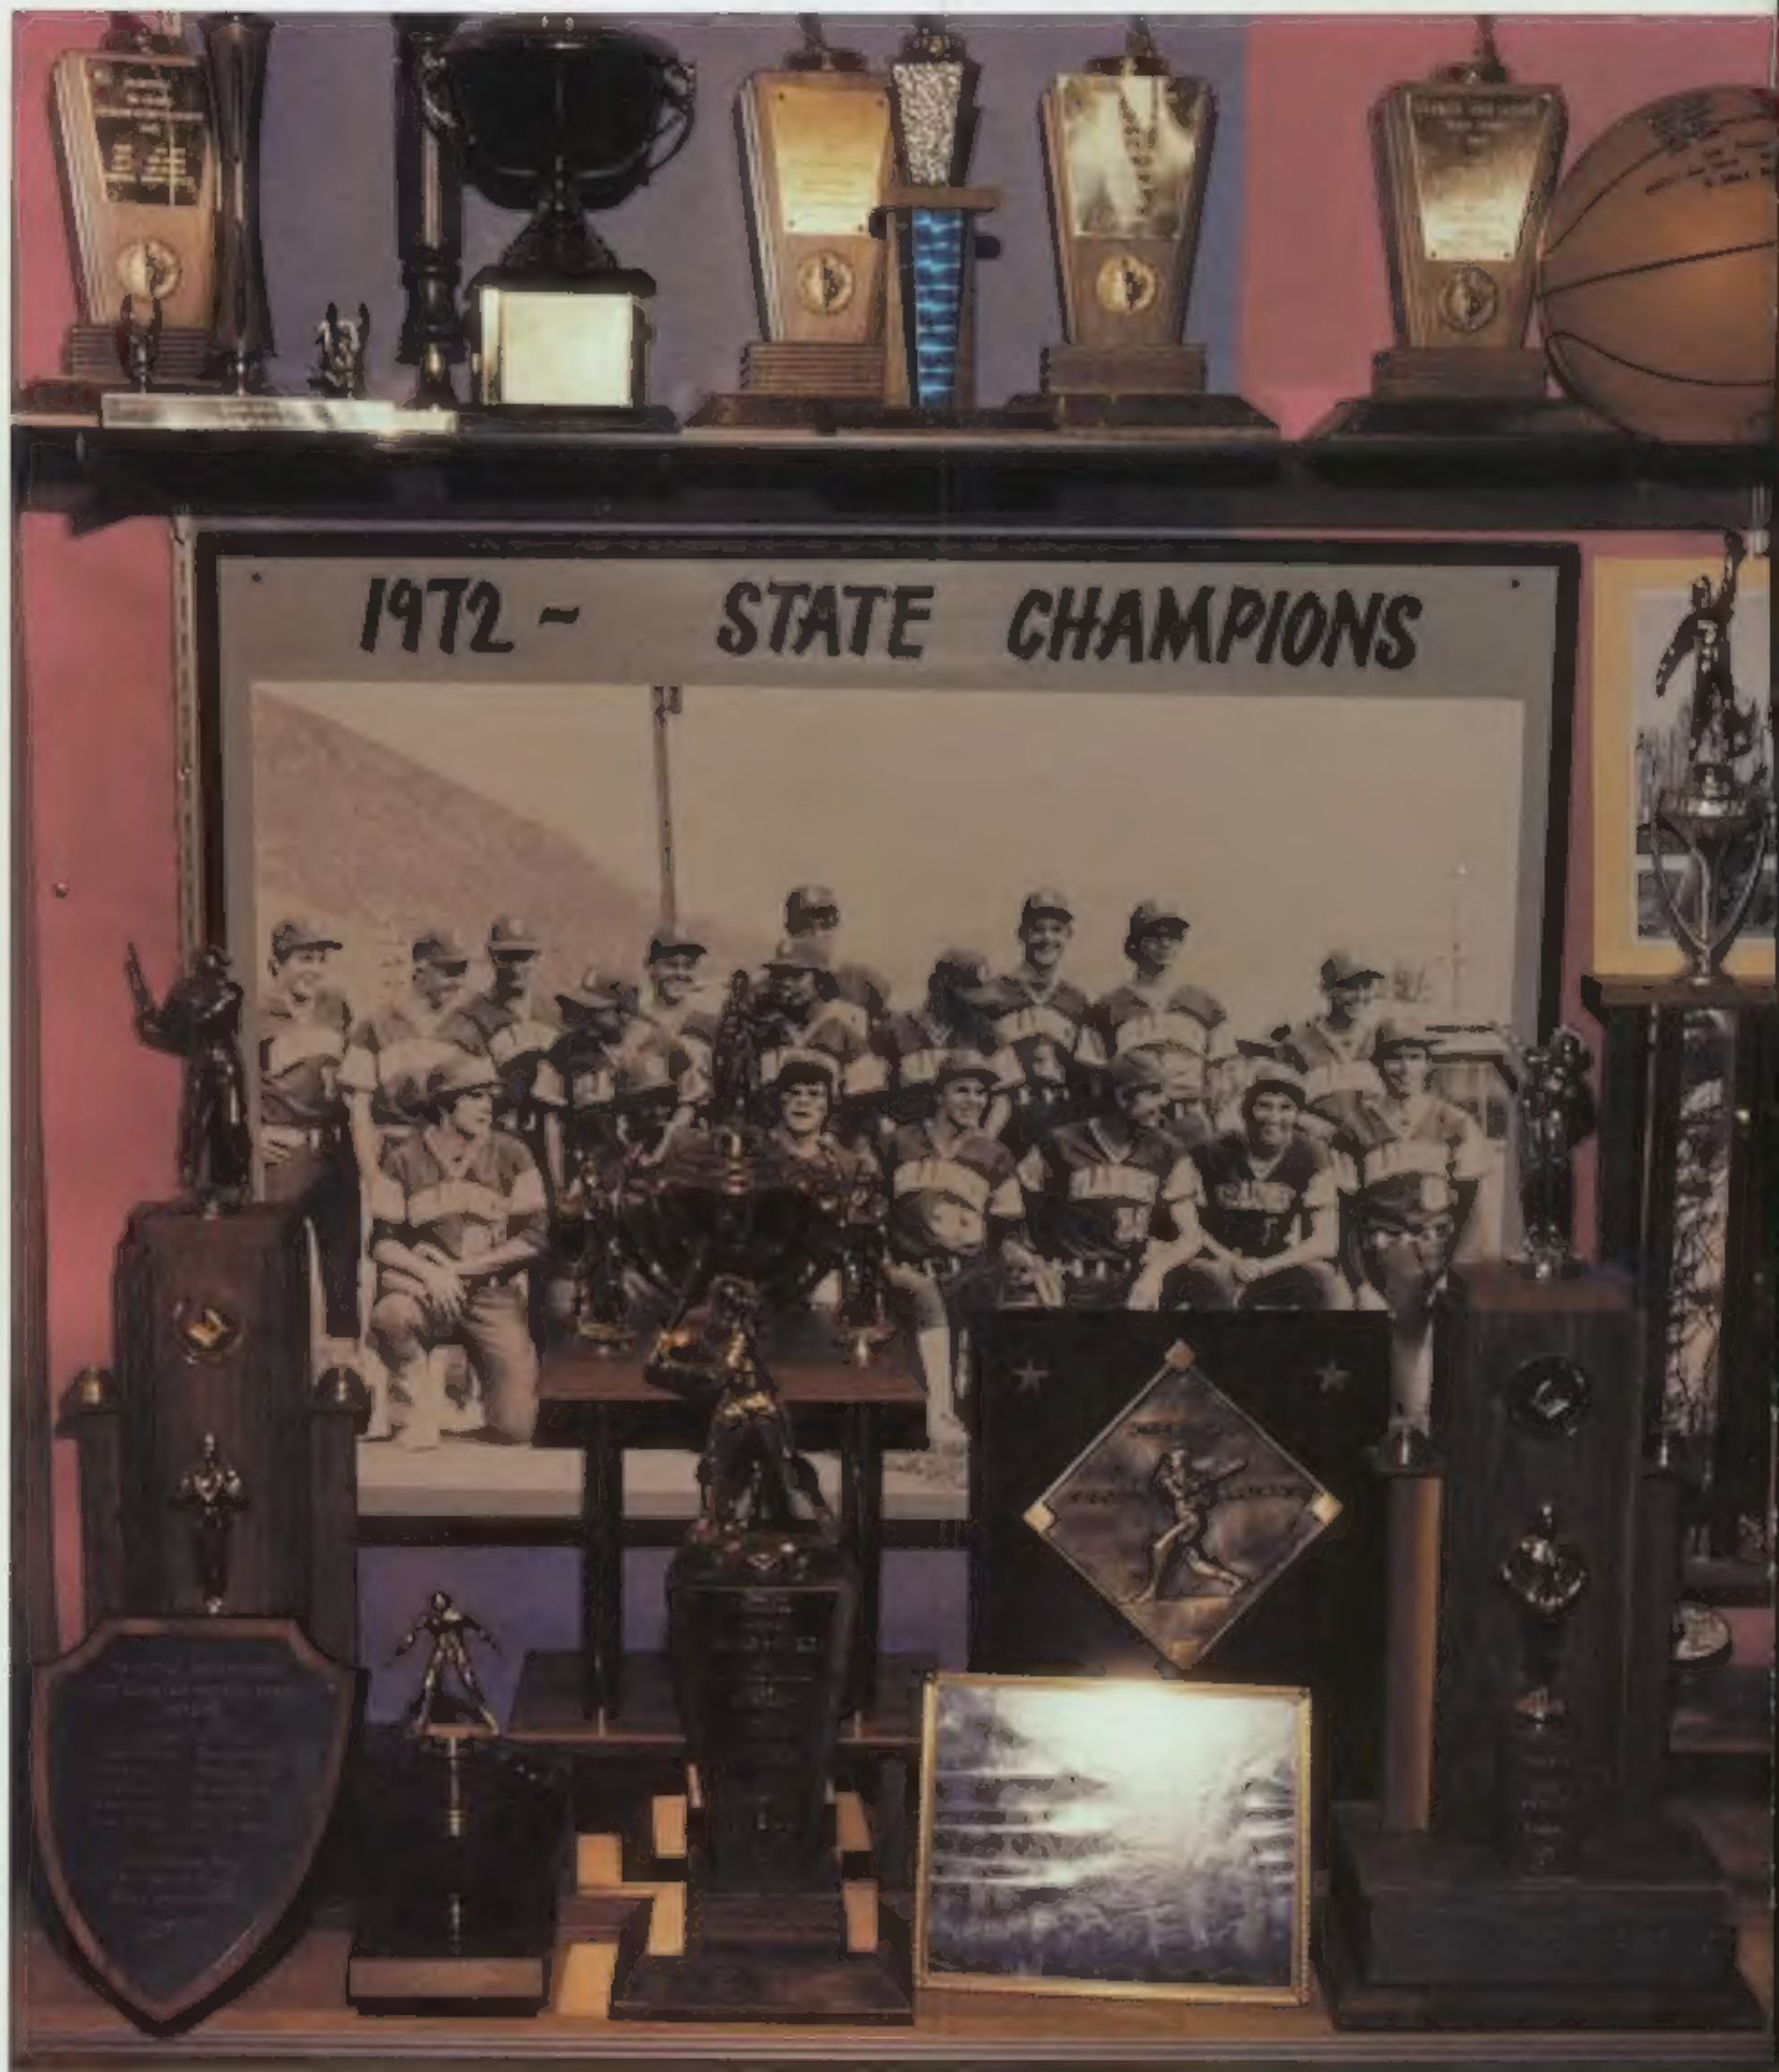

Year by year, grooves were formed.

of their achievements and dreams.

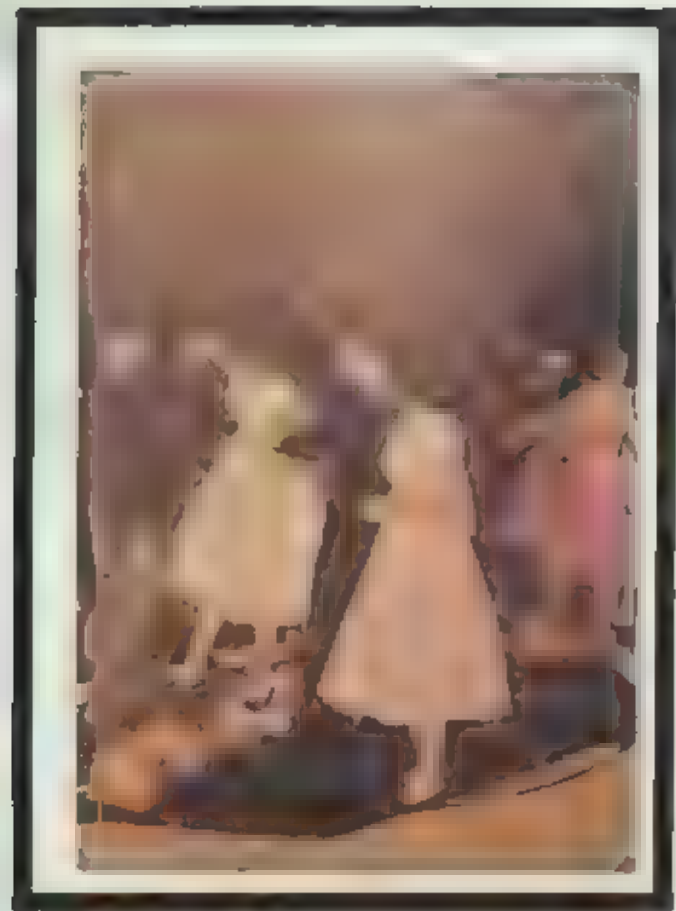

Each year was different, however,

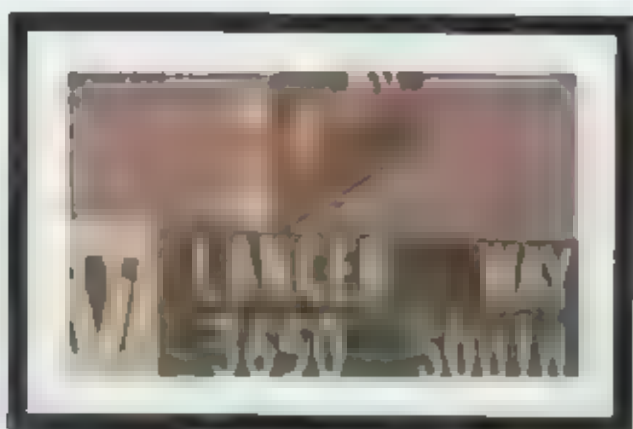

Some were gold
and some platinum,

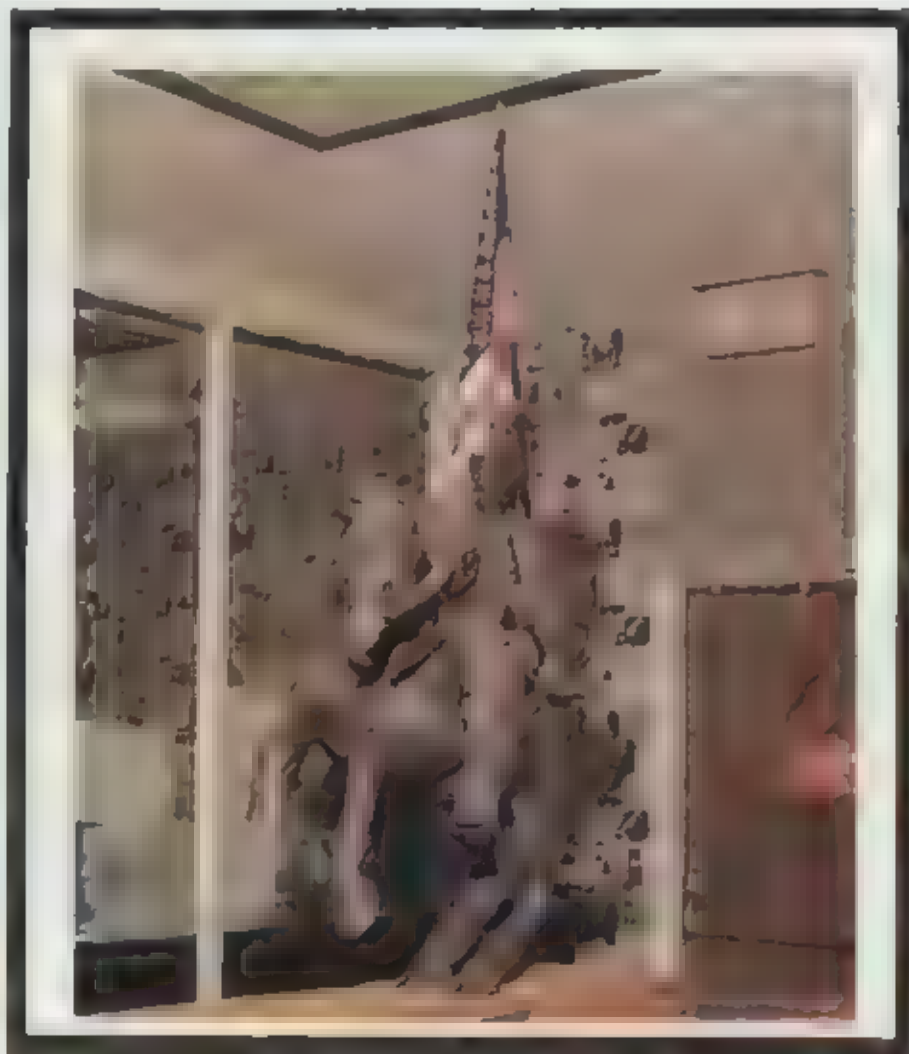

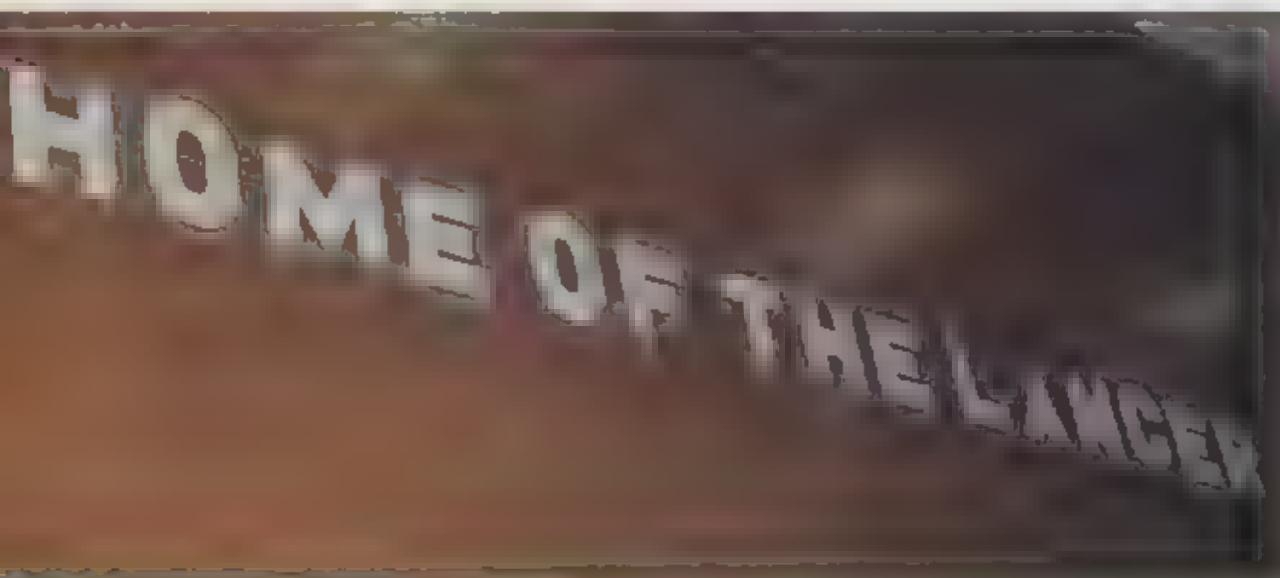

But every year was significant . . .

his own record.

Studentbody Officers

Serving this year as your Studentbody President has been one of the most rewarding experiences of my life. I have received continual joy from your support and especially from your friendships. As the months have passed, I have received so much love from every one of you ... it's hard to leave. I love all of you! I will be praying that your experiences will help you to grow and make you as happy as serving you has made me

I love you!

We, the studentbody officers, know the progress that has been made and the accomplishments that have been achieved. We also know this progress could not have been achieved without the support of the studentbody. What a joy it is to serve ... the famed "pit falls" as well as other skits in the assemblies will always be fond memories. What wonderful responses that were continually given!

Credit and thanks goes to the administration for the constant support and encouragement. It was realized, because of the concern for the individual student, what true educators are at Granger High School

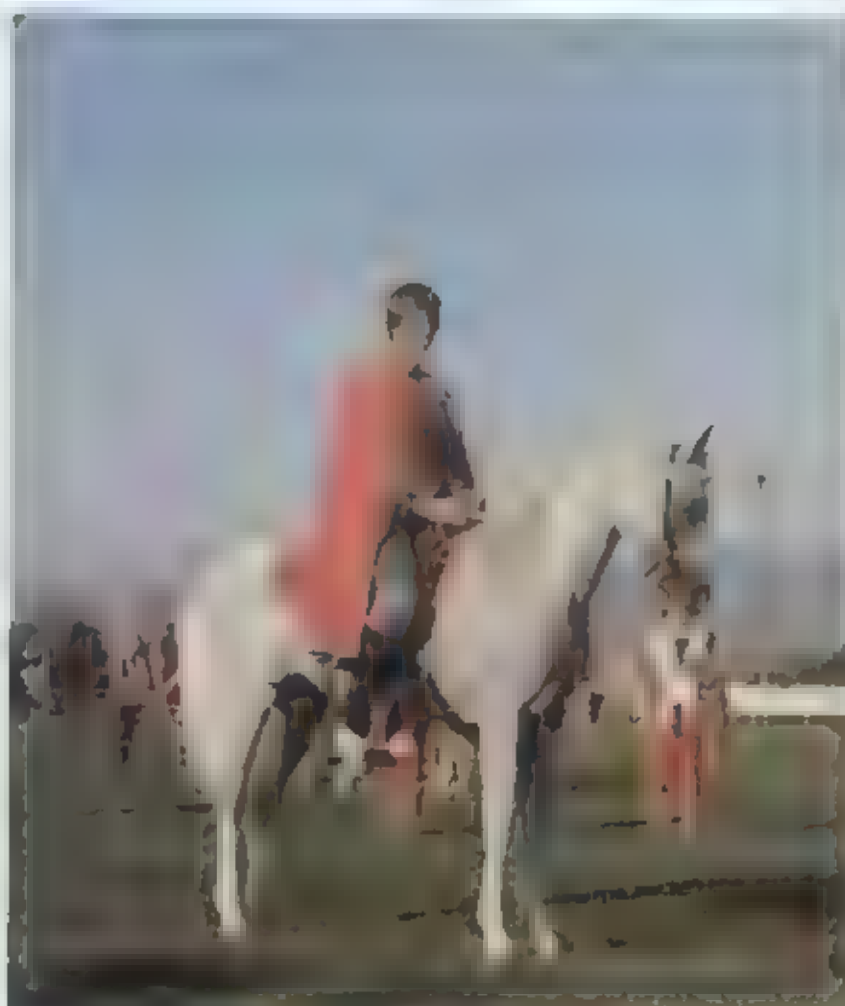

As we leave Granger High we wish for the continued success that the studentbody and the studentbody officers helped create through the year

We hope the things we have achieved may be added to and built upon in the years to come! Thanks and good luck!

Homecoming Celebrates 25 years.

The event of the year 1983 was the celebration of Granger's silver anniversary homecoming. Twenty-five years of growth and tradition were remembered as alumni from many classes returned to celebrate the birthday of the Lancer.

Past Studentbody officers, cheerleaders, and administration filled the halls during the week of September 13-17 as Granger "Celebrates Me Home".

Students were encouraged to wear their oldest Strauss and Izod shirts on Monday, and Tuesday was full with college T-shirts roaming the halls. Tuesday night, a Queens Tea was held for all homecoming queen nominees. Wednesday was set aside as "clash" day and stripes and polka dots were seen all day.

The Homecoming parade was held down Lancer Way at 6:00 p.m. on the fifteenth and was highlighted by many past alumni and administrators riding floats. Chosen as Grand Marshall of the parade was Donald Snow. He has been a favorite teacher throughout the twenty-five years of Granger's existence.

Granger was honored to have Rueben Gallegos as Alumni of the Year. He represented Granger in 1959 as the first Studentbody President.

On Thursday, the sophomores finally had a day of their own and everyone participated by wearing sweats. Friday was the big day for all of the finest activities. Everyone wore school colors and really got into the spirit of Homecoming. A special Alumni breakfast was held as well as the tea for alumni to be reunited.

At the assembly on Friday the winners of the shield contest were announced along with the Homecoming royalty. Reigning over this Homecoming were: Jolynn Gagon, queen; Allison Hobbs, first attendant; and Shawn Hasenberg, as second attendant.

Following the assembly, Granger clashed with the Titans at 4:30. The game was well attended and the school spirit was overwhelming. All to no avail, however, Granger was defeated 42-0. Half time entertainment was provided by Drill Team, Spirit Club, Band, Lancerettes and Madrigals. What better way to "Celebrate Me Home" than with a circus? The half time festivities centered around this theme.

The highlight of the week was the Homecoming dance held from 8:00-11:00 p.m. in the Stonehedge. The dance was put on by the group Portrait and Don Blair took the pictures.

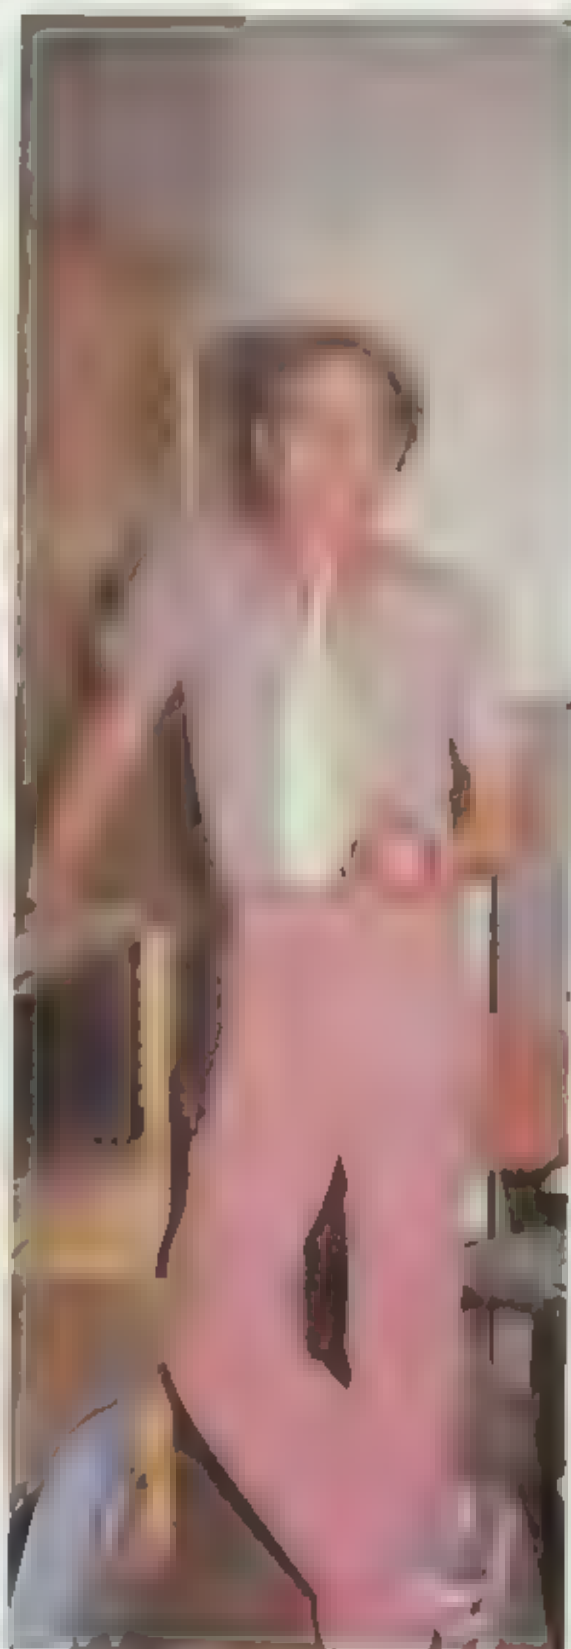

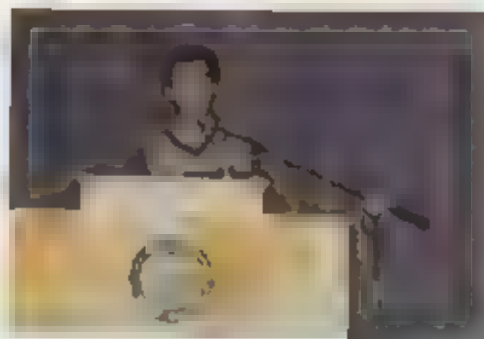

Homecoming was quite a memorable event for Granger High as it turned twenty-five years old. Many students showed their pride by getting involved in all the activities.

Studentbody President Lisa Kilburn commented, "We were very pleased with the turnout of Alumni at our silver anniversary Homecoming. We had participation from the majority of the past classes."

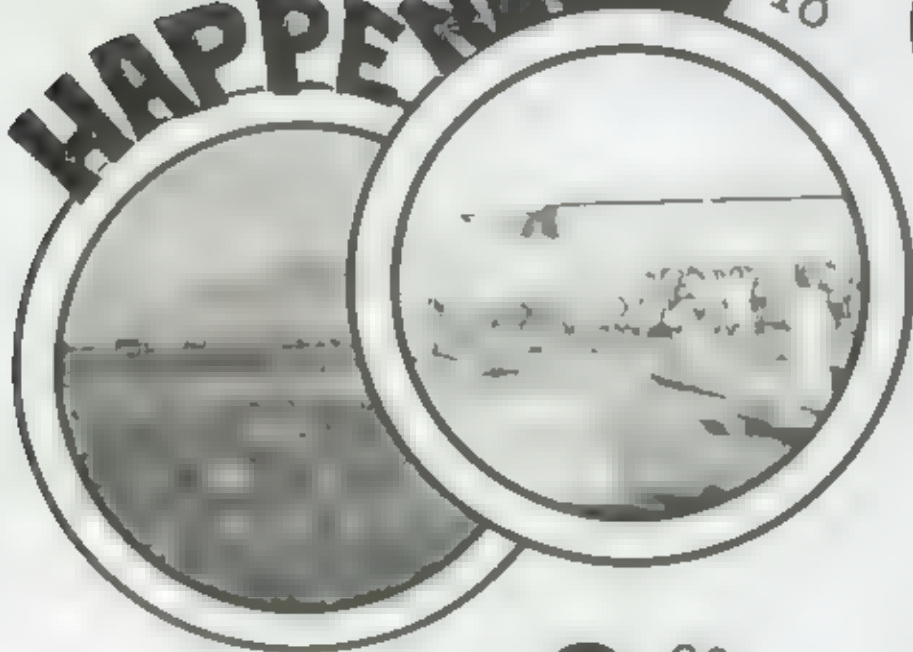

So, as Granger goes on making history, one takes a brief moment to look back into the past and remember how it was then ... twenty-five years ago.

Colorful flags were hung from the halls welcoming Granger back during Hello Week, August 30 through September 3. "This is it ... the beginning of the best" was the theme, as activities to welcome the studentbody back to school, were held

During the week Studentbody officers went around to all first period classes introducing themselves

Highlighting Hello Week was the Hello Assembly held Friday on the A M assembly schedule. Bluesberry Jam played, and skits were done by different organizations. Lisa Kilburn spread all kinds of 'happiness' on the stage until Woody came out with her whip

The Hello Stomp was held Friday night from 7 00 till 10 00 P M. in the Stonehedge to end a week of being reunited with friends

The Show Must Go On

1983 is really the the BEST

What do you think of when you hear "Seven swimmers swimming and a madrigal in a pear tree?" Or perhaps you were wondering what Woody's A.P. dungeon is? These are just a few of the many outrageous skits put on during Granger's assemblies. Other fond auditorium memories include the SBO's famous pitfalls, Dave Kukahiko and his super students, and the great "Violent Lightning" air concerts!

"This years assemblies have been super and, "We've really had high attendance," comments JoLynn Gagon, a student-body officer. Students genuinely participated and got involved which made the assemblies all the more fun

So ... for those of you who can't resist McDonald's Egg McMuffins, you really missed out on a year full of exciting assemblies

How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying

Actions speak louder than words!

Do you want to know how to get from a window washer to the president of a big firm? It's all in a book called, "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying." Shann Colletzi portrayed J. Pierrepont Finch the aggressive window washer who rose to become a very successful business man.

Hedy LaRue, played by Schelly Schoenfeld added lots of pizzazz to the musical. Jennifer Christensen played the role of Rosemary and J.B. Biggley was played by Klint Heywood.

Curtain time was at 7:30 p.m. on November 12, 13, and 15. Performances by the cast were excellent. A lot of hard work and long hours went into this musical.

"There is a brotherhood of man"

"Hedy, if you could just be patient"

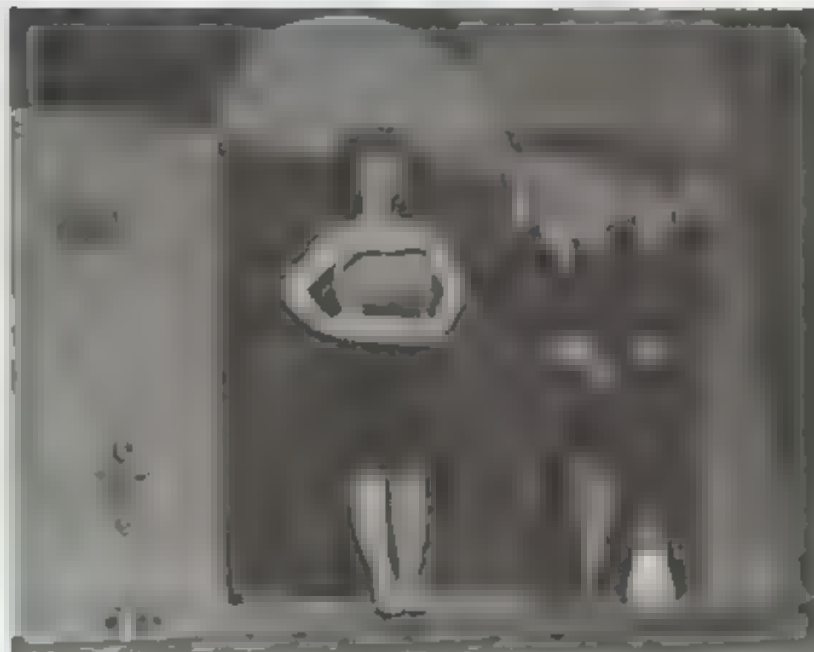

"I don't care if you're a window washer, chairman of the board, or President of the United States, I love you!"

Granger High Dance Company performs at assembly

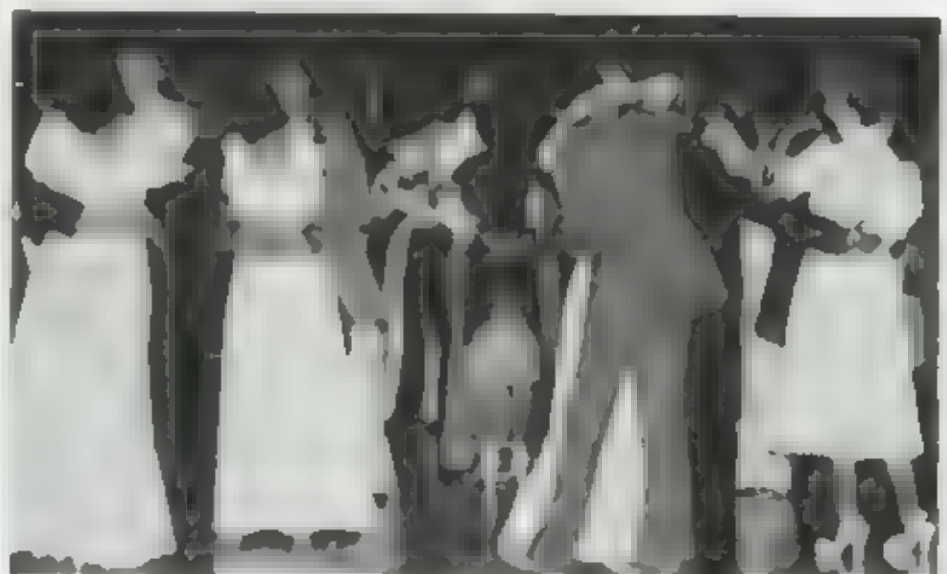

"Now and Forever" was the theme for the '82-'83 Harvest Ball held November 19. H.E.R.O. club sponsored the dance and put on the Friday morning assembly. Announcing of Royalty and a performance from Dance Company were a few of the assembly highlights.

The Ball was held from 8-11 in the Stonehedge. It was decorated with leaves and trees as well as fruit, and vegetables.

Music was by the band "Light Years" and Scott Adams took the pictures. H.E.R.O. president Debbie Stoddart commented, "It was really fun to organize and put on a dance for the studentbody, but it was a lot of work." Other H.E.R.O. officers include: Anean Montgomery, V.P.; Deanna Kilfoyle, secretary; Karna Walquist, publicity; Judy Stanley, Historian; and Joni Montgomery, State Rep.

Legend" performed the music, as many Granger students attended the Senior Ball. The dance was held at the Seven Oaks Reception Center, and "Truly" was the theme.

Other highlights of Senior Week included, Thursday as ski day, when students wore turtle-necks and goggles. Scrounges had their day on Monday and Levis Strauss was worn on Tuesday. Wednesday was Cowboy Day and Granger T-shirts were seen on Friday.

Friday was also the date of the super senior assembly. 'T.V. Shows' was the theme for the assembly. Senior Favorites were announced academy award style and the royalty candidates were presented.

Seniors were represented really well during their week of January 24-29.

The Class Of '84 Rules During Junior Week

Fifties Day started Junior Week out right. Greased hair, leather jackets, bobby socks and ponytails began this week which ran March 7-11. On Tuesday there was no school however, Wednesday was M A S.H. Day. Khaki was the prominent color at Granger as people portrayed Margaret, Hawkeye, B.J. Klinger and all the gang. Thursday marked West Valley Appreciation Day. The traditional red, blue, and gray day was held on Friday. An A.M. assembly occurred in the morning and Junior Prom was held that night from 8-11 at the Capitol Rotunda. The theme was "What If I Loved You " A special apperance by John Canaan and Music by Portrait highlighted the evening. Junior Week helped the Junior Class show spirit and gave the student body great memories of 1983

Sophomore Week, A Success!

Sophomores were honored by being privileged enough to have a whole week to themselves during December 6-10. The first day was sponsored by the Sophomore Student Council and they invited everyone to wear sweaters that Monday. The Sophomore Cheerleaders were in charge of Tuesday where they held a 'Hug your favorite Sophomore' day and had ballots for the dance royalty. On Wednesday the student body was encouraged to wear crazy hats by the Spirit Club. Thursday and Friday were sponsored by the Sophomore Officers. They wanted everyone to wear elf hats and bells, which was a difficult event to support. On Friday there was an AM assembly. There were skits put on by the Sophomore Cheerleaders, Officers and Spirit Club.

Lancer Pride Makes Spirit

Spirit Week began on Monday, January 10 with Sweats Day. In the evening, the annual class call was held. Each class had a different word to say: Sophomores-'can't', Juniors-'beat', Seniors-'spirit'. The Class of '83 won this event. Tuesday was preppy day. The halls were filled with Izod and Polo shirts, Levi Strauss, Sperry Top Siders and Vurnet. Wednesday was filled with Concert T-Shirts and the annual Renaissance Fair. Aloha! Granger went Hawaiian on Thursday. Lei's were sold and umbrellas came with lunch. A stomp was held that night from 7-10 in the Stonehedge. Friday marked School Color Day. The Seniors wore blue, Juniors red and Sophomores gray. The A.M. assembly featured the madrigals singing a tribute to Granger "25 Years Young". There was a skit and spirit competition and each class gave a tribute to the other classes and themselves. A highlight of the assembly was a group of senior guys singing "Sophomores." Spirit Week helped boost the Lancer athletes over their opponents and united Granger together.

Weekends Were Made For . . .

Does everything a Granger High student live for revolve around school? Do pencils, textbooks, liquid paper, lunch tickets, report cards, and teacher's critical comments control his every living moment? Does life for a student suddenly come to a screeching halt every Friday at exactly 2:20 p.m.? . . . Of course not! It is, at exactly this time, 2:20p.m., that every high school student experiences the total relief of those droll 7:40-2:20 blues' lifted from their shoulders. The very second the dismissal bell is heard, plans are being made to try to make this weekend the one that will help him to forget the events of that previous week.

Though, it is often asked, "What kind of weekend activities could possibly help a Granger High student forget the previous week?"

Here are just a couple of suggestions.

First off, start at home! Mom usually has the refrigerator stocked, raid it! With arms full, find a soft couch whereby a TV screen is visible. Many programs have been developed for the entertainment of a teenager. Soaps provide an outlook on life, that, compared to a student's, cannot compare. Another program that furnishes visual entertainment is the one and only M-tv (music television) with J.J. Jackson 24 hours a day. Cable TV and Atari are also great time killers.

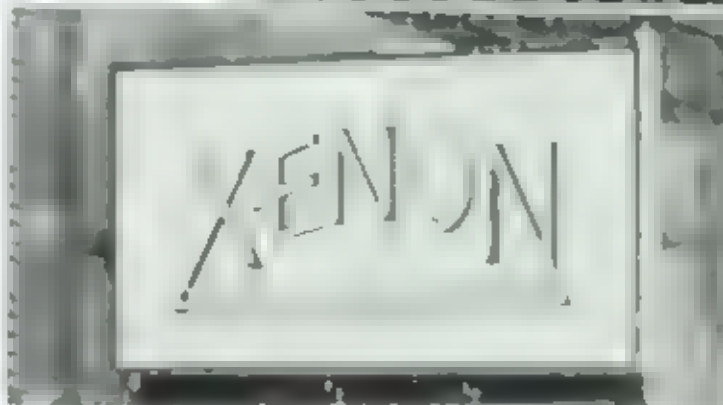

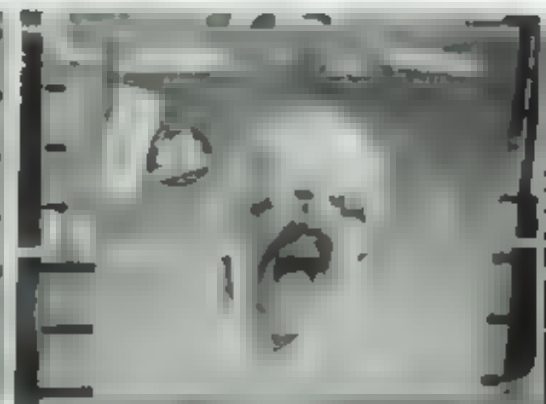

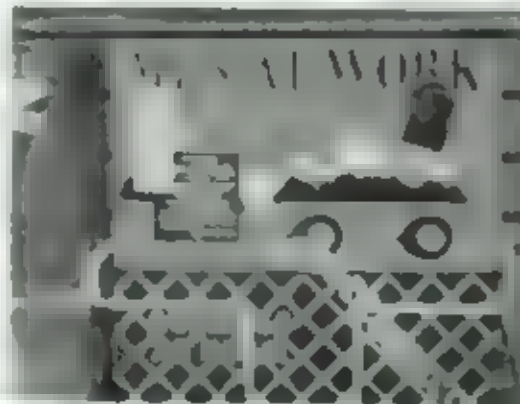

Saturday mornings can usually be spent sleeping, working, watching cartoons, or American Bandstand mowing the lawn, or sitting back listening to the stereo and eating Captain Crunch Berries.

Saturday afternoons can be spent in an array of activities, for example: shopping at the mall, going to the beach or Lagoon, spending time and money at arcades. Sports are always found on the popular list. Many students can be seen throughout parks, driveways, and gyms of Utah participating in their favorite mode of physical activity. Of course the most favorite and popular sport of all the sport of shnaggin' (or ramblin', for those with scarves) is played on Saturday night.

Saturday evenings are usually spent preparing for that special (usually blind) date, watching Solid Gold, or getting prepared for that night on the town. Various events are available for those who enjoy the night life. Dancin' places can be found just about everywhere. Some boast lights and hot action like Xenon and the Broadway. Others hold hidden pleasures, like the Prohibitor. And, if one is into video dancing, that can be found at the Frisco Bay.

For those who are into the heavier things in life, take, for instance, one of those parties that end in a drunken brawl with the W.V.C. police ringing the door, and not calling "Avon"; An unwieldy party can be found in nearly every neighborhood.

Another High School hangout is that famed long street First East, or more commonly known as State Street.

On a Saturday night, the street is crawling with cars and stud's lookin for some fast action. And if one is into a cultest movie groupee, one can make a right hand turn from State onto First South via the Blue Mouse. This famous theatre boasts the one and only Rockie Horror Picture Show. If one hasn't heard of the dialogue, one has probably heard of the water and hot dog fights. And as a last resort, there is always a Stake Dance, (just for you W K )

Sundays are usually spent in confession from Saturdays night's activities, while attending church. It is always a nice day for crusin' the sights and spending an afternoon with mom and dad. However, as all typical high school students, they procrastinate the homework until the very last minute of Sunday. The studying is usually done while watching the Prime Time Movie.

So, sad as it may seem, the weekend is never totally free from the pains of the High School grind

Fads And Fashions And Fads And . . .

Preps are a unique group of people. They are deeply involved in activities of varying types. They love school and feel as though they can not get enough education. Reading various preppy handbooks and looking in L. L. Bean catalogues to find the newest styles, are favorite past times for this breed of people. It gives the mind the mental exercise that is so needed to build brains. When mental exercise gets too tough and monotonous a prep will exit from his study and enter the green of the tennis court. Of course he will be wearing the latest Izod Lacosta fashions, except for argyle socks. Argyle socks are worn only in the cool winter months when feet need to be protected. Otherwise a prep wears his handmade socks inside of his Sperry Topsiders. Preppy people live in sweaters and wear them in different ways. They can be worn as an accessory or as the main article of clothing. Preps also like animals. It is evident by the various logos on their clothes. Their relationship to the colors pink, gray and green is familiar. They enjoy sailing and shopping at trendy stores. There is more to being a prep that meets the eye, or the pocketbook.

... Fashions And Fads And Fashions And ...

"Like gag me with a spoon! Fer shurr!" A valley girl's vocabulary is a limited but an amusing one. It consists mostly of slang words like bogus, bunk, geek, a nerd, coaster; a beach bum and the list goes on. It is not very hard for a 'val' to learn valley talk but it is hard for her to learn anything else because she only goes to school to socialize. One thing a 'Val' has learned is how to wear clothes so that she doesn't look shanky on a date. A 'val' never wears a hat but can always be seen with a gnarly headband. A mini is so cool and a pink mini is all the way live. A 'Val' never wears high heels. Flats are the only way to go. Valley Girls live for the weekend. They go to way crankin parties and cruise dudes. Vals keep their girlish figures by drinking only Diet Pepsi and eating Cheetos, once in a while they go off of their diet. It is hard to figure Valley Girls out, mainly because they can't figure themselves out.

. . . Fads And Fashions And Fads And . . .

Oh, the life of a ski bum. What a life to lead. Spending endless days on sunny slopes with a ski bum's best friend, his Olin Mark IV skis. They get the bum where he wants to go and as fast as he can handle. Yet what are skis without ski poles? It's like a pillow without stuffing and a book without pages. Then what is skiing in the powder without a powder jacket? A ski hat of any type is necessary whether it's for warmth or looks. Goggles and/or sunglasses are a must. A person never knows when snowblindness will set in or when a strong wind will arise and whip eyes raw. Ski pins are a semi-important accessory. They let other skiers know where their owner has skied and excelled. If a ski bum has not excelled at a resort he does not buy a pin. The same is true if he did not like the resort. The life of a ski bum is carefree and costly but a heck of a lot of fun.

When written, these events were current, yet everyday these events change for the better or the worse. However prevalent they may be, tomorrow there will be others to take the headlines of newspapers across the globe. This is a compiling of a few events that took place during the 1982-83 year. Hopefully this will remind us of some memorable occurrences that took place during our high school years.

Of course being lighthearted about the year is easy; there was a rash of smiles to be had. "E.T." smashed the box office with simple graces. The Rev. Sun Myung Moon marrying of 2000 couples in a moonlit ceremony was worth a knowing nod, and even Sophia Loren's two weeks in the clink had a touch of perverse humor about it.

Still, such antics spent most of the year in a shadow of weightier matters... the most notable being 1982's tendency toward tragedy. Loss of life became something of an eerie theme in '82. The massacre by the Phalangists in Lebanon, the 1,000 dead in the Falkland Wars, the Tylenol victims, the ever-present air crashes that claimed lives in Louisiana and Washington, the oil rigger that battled 50-foot waves in the Atlantic before going under and taking its 84 crew members.

Over half of the events of the year, had to do with dying. With the invasion of Lebanon by the Israelis, as with the passing of Russia's Leonard Brezhnev, Hollywood mourned the passing of Henry Fonda, Ingrid Bergman, Jack Webb, Marty Feldman, Paul Lynde, Fernando Lamas, John Belushi, Vic Morrow and Daye Garroway.

The list rolls on: Marty Robbins, Princess Grace, Satchel Page, Red Smith, Dominique Dunne, Karen Carpenter, and Charlie Brooks, the first person to be executed by lethal injection.

Other instances where names appeared in odd places: John De Lorean, for instance, trying to bail out his company with a cache of cocaine. John Hinckley Jr. — to the amazement and consternation of many Americans — being found not guilty for his attempt on the life of President Reagan. Reason? Insanity. Brig Gen James L. Dozier, emerging from 42 days of captivity, asking for a cheeseburger. The man in the water who saved five lives and lost his own after an Air Florida jet splashed into the Potomac... and the hold-up men who pulled off the biggest heist in memory, $11 million taken through the roof of an armed car.

The sports world produced its share of individual stories in 1982-83. The N.F.L. strike, of course, was the big news of the year, ending with the Redskins taking the Superbowl. Old pros reared their heads needless to say. Reggie Jackson made himself heard, and Tom Watson's putter put his name in the headlines. Hockey's Wayne Gretzky obliterated all scoring records in '82 and in tennis, Jimmy Connors made one of the most memorable comebacks by beating John McEnroe for top spot in ratings.

In the political world Phyllis Schlafly and friends celebrated the defeat of the ERA after a 10 years battle. Sen. Edward Kennedy announced he would not run for the presidency, meanwhile Walter Mondale announced he would run for the presidency in 1984. Poland's Lech Walesa was freed telling the press, "I did not sign anything, resign from anything, made no commitments."

1982-1983: An Annual Report

'82/83 Big Year For Movies

Sadly, Pope John Paul II was the center of a political scheme. An attempt was made on his life. And Alexander Haig ended a career of confrontation by stepping down from his post as Secretary of State. George Schultz replaced him.

Hollywood, needless to say, produced its share of Hollywood-style stories. Elizabeth Taylor went through her seventh divorce, and — jolting the press — took a role with two-time husband, Richard Burton. And also the scandal sheets had a field day with Cary Grant's lawsuit with Chevy Chase.

In a boom year at the box office, Dustin Hoffman donned a Dress to play "Tootsie". Paul Newman looked a like shoo-in for his first Academy Award, for "The Verdict" and — as mentioned — E.T. came to earth with what director Steven Spielberg labeled "a face only a mother could love". Also, the appearance of world history took place with the release of "Gandhi", the Indian Savior, and television's "Winds of War", left audiences in awe. An array of shows kept T.V. audiences entertained with the resurrection of Hillstreet Blues, Dynasty, Fame, and Falcon Crest.

Amid the conglomeration of headlines — the Hawaii hurricane, the MX in Wyoming, the "sticker shocker" car buyers felt were still making the news. Dr. Barney Clark, became the first person to receive the artificial heart at the U of U Med Center. As of this writing he is resting comfortably.

And an unusual event occurred in '82; the long awaited "Time" Magazine's popular, "Man of the Year Award." This year Time selected a soul who has done more to modernize the world, done more to improve communication than anyone in history.

Time's Man of the Year — The computer.

Scientific Technology has made possible this year's number one story in the news. Mankind looked on in awe as Dr. Barney B. Clark was allowed to continue life on the world's first artificial heart. Salt Lake was the center of all world news attention, as University of Utah's Med. Center's Physicians gleamed with pride. Dr. Clark, a 61 year old, retired dentist from Seattle, received the plastic heart early in December.

The second top story for 1982 was the numerous kidnappings of Utah children. Among the many children missing was Melanie Larsen, 10, of Kaysville. Melanie's nightmare had a happy ending when she escaped from Larry David Neilson, her captor. A famous young name in the news was that of three year old Rachael Runyon, from Davis County, Utah. This kidnapping story ended tragically when the Runyon girls body was found in Morgan County. These frightening events led to many parents having children fingerprinted for easy identification.

News of the 1950's and early '60's recurred as victims of atomic bomb testing went to trial before U.S. District Judge Bruce S. Jenkins. Victims claim that the Nevada testing caused family members to get cancer. Family members want compensation from the government, claiming the bomb testing caused harmful radiation to rest in parts of Nevada, Arizona, and Southern Utah.

The deepening recession, with rising unemployment in Utah, was voted the number four story of the year on the top 10 ballot. Many Utah citizens employed at numerous mining, manufacturing and construction companies were found jobless due to rising unemployment. 1981 was seen at 5.9 percent unemployment while 1982 jumped to a whopping 7.8 percent.

Where to dump Nuclear waste was the number five story in the news. The Federal government wanted to place the nuclear waste right next to Canyonlands National Park. Some Utahns favor the dump if it can be proven safe.

Number six in the news was the extensive flooding in Salt Lake County. The storm of five days backed up sewers, caused mud and rock slides and set all kinds of new records. More than 200 people were evacuated as more than 1000 homes were flooded. For Salt Lake City it was the wettest water year on record with 25.15 inches. The previous record was 22.26 inches in 1972-73.

Ranking seventh on the list were the November elections. The Republican candidates ruled again making the majority of Utah's leaders Republican.

The slugging of U.S. Supreme Court Justice Byron R. White ranked number eight. Newton C. Estes was convicted of assault on a federal judge.

Placing ninth was the death of President N. Eldon Tanner, first counselor of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

Tying for ninth place was the transplant of a young Utah boy's liver, saving the life of Jamie Fiske, 11 month old Massachusetts girl.

Attempts to ban cable T.V. were ranked number 10. Petitions to ban so-called indecent material from cable T.V. were signed. But to this writing no decision has been made by the courts as to the banning of regulation of Cable T.V.

This special group of girls, led by Jil Gagon, never stopped, their voices could be heard leading the crowd at every game. It was this group that led the class of '83 to victory in this year's spirit week competition. The Varsity Cheerleaders received a superior rating at their summer competitions. They were exactly what Granger High needed to keep the spirit running high.

It was very obvious from watching this group of girls that we had not only the pick of the school, but also one of the best groups in the valley. The Songleaders led by Dori Paluso had an exceptional year. They started out by getting a first place trophy at a five state championship, and they continued that high quality throughout the year. They were six bubbly, talented girls who kept the spirit high in the school. We're proud to have them a part of Granger High.

SIR LANCER Represents Grangers Pride

Ten years from now when one hears the word Lancer what will be remembered? Will one remember a horse with a tall dark masked man on it? Probably, but most important to remember is what's behind the costume. Behind the costume is courage, strength and pride.

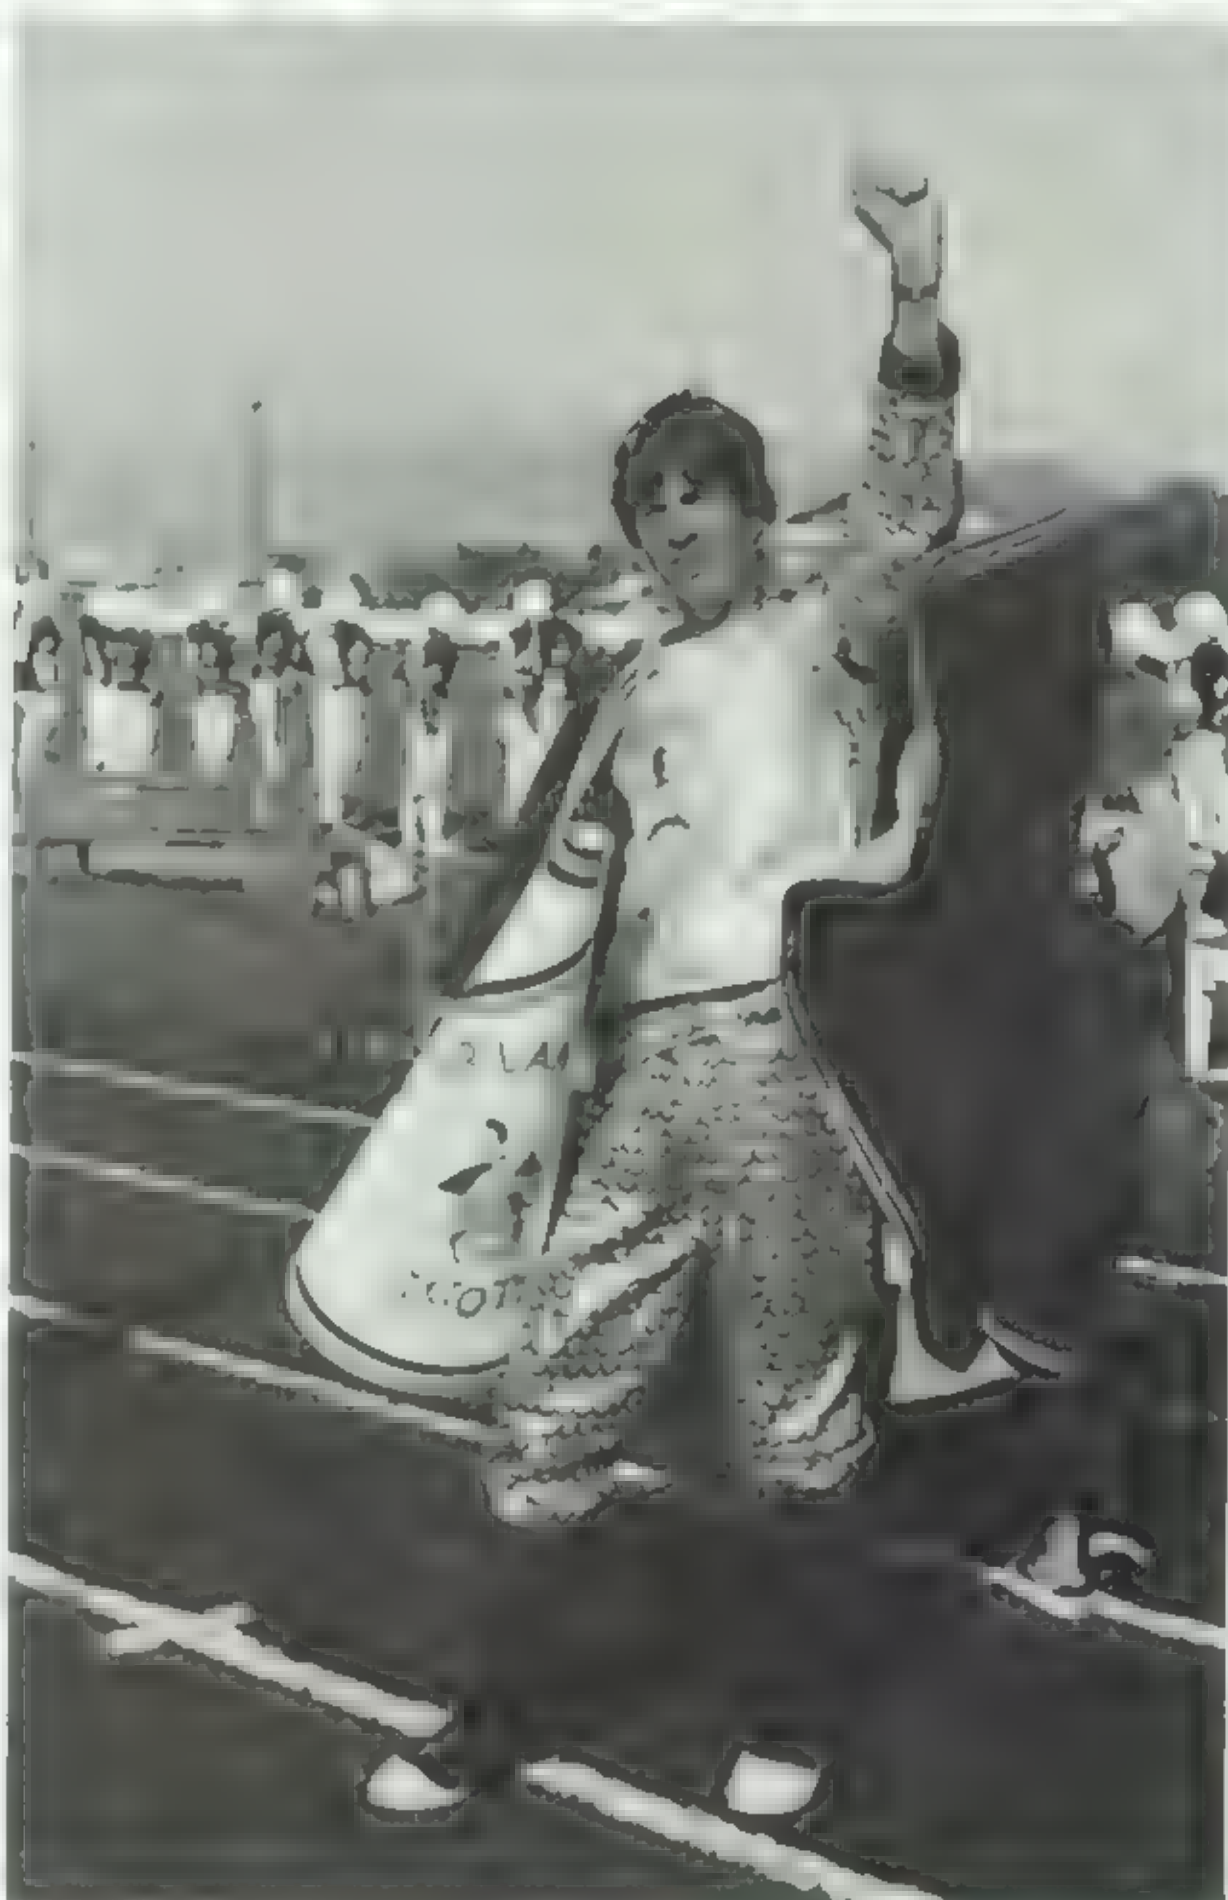

Courage to stand and fight, to be brave and to always come out on top.

Strength to always stand behind the school to always do the very best possible. Pride is most important. The Lancer is a symbol of pride. Standing tall, proud to be a Lancer, proud of the legacy that has been left behind.

When one sees a Lancer on a horse remember the years spent at Granger High and the pride one feels to be a Lancer.

As Sir Lancer, I would like to thank you, the studentbody, for all the support that you have given me this past year. It was so exciting for me, to see so many of you at all of the games and other school activities. That is what made it so rewarding to me. I hope I have served you well in the proud tradition of Granger High School.

The Boy's Varsity Basketball Team had a fine season this year as it won 12 games and lost 8. In Region 3 competition the Lancers won 6 and lost 4, which was good enough for a 2nd place finish. Highlights of the season were a 41-39 victory over Olympus, and a 49-43 conquest of Skyline the eventual region champion.

Granger was very competitive in all games and was involved in many close games. Nine games were decided by four points or less.

We started off the season on a good note. We wrestled East High School and had a lot of support, which helped our wrestlers win. Next we wrestled Kearns and Jordan, we beat both of them. We traveled to Layton High and wrestled in a tournament there and placed 6th of 16 teams. At the meet, Paul Nutt tore ligaments in his knee and was out for a month. Next, we wrestled Brighton, the last year state champs with 6 State placers still wrestling. We lost 3 one point matches to them, and Steve Bradshaw ripped the ligaments in his ankle, but he still got us the only points against Brighton with a tie. Steve was out for a month but we came back and won the next 6 in a row. During that 6 we lost, Dale Warner had knee surgery, Ernest Castillo tore ligaments in his knee, Danyon Worthen tore ligaments in his hands, and Clint Sherman broke both bones in his arm. Mike Jensen also tore ligaments in his knee, and Richard Walker, who had a great chance at taking State, tore a muscle loose in his neck and wasn't able to compete in Region or State. We finished the season with 9 wins and 2 losses. We also took second in Region while qualifying 5 of our JV Wrestlers for State. Last but not least Ron Tew dislocated his finger in the region tournament and put it back in himself and was able to finish the match which let him win the region tournament. Ron Tew was our only placer in the State Tournament, placing 5th. Danyon Worthen also dislocated his shoulder in the State Tournament and was unable to finish wrestling. This was a 'year of the injury'.

The 1982-83 Lady Lancer Basketball team started off great playing for championship in the annual Green Sheet Tournament but placed 2nd by losing to Murry. The team brought home the first girls basketball trophy ever at Granger. Teresa Mitchell and Tiffany Parker made the all star team in that tournament. With their goal aiming towards getting to State they accomplished just that by placing among the top four teams in region. Senior co captains Teresa Mitchell and Tiffany Parker led the team in scoring and rebounds. They were the only two returners from last years varsity team.

Track Runs For Victory

Resting from a tiring competition

This years Track Team was basically a young team made up of Sophomores and Juniors. There was some outstanding Senior lettermen returning to strengthen the team. Kim Jenkins returned in the mile and two mile. Kip was one of the finest distance runners in the state. Thad Parry also helped in the distance events and Terry-George returned in the pole vault. Rich Curtis returned this year in the four forty and Steve Morrill returned in the one-hundred and two-twenty. Steve worked hard as a junior and was a main stay in the sprints this year. Eric Thompson was another returning senior lettermen in the hurdles. Norman Neilsen and Chris Pendleton are two Juniors who helped the Track Team this year, they were both gifted Track athletes. Ron Taw another Junior worked the four-forty and field events. Some Sophomores who showed promise include Larry Blanchard who worked in the sprints, relays and long jump. Brian Thomas another sophomore helped in the hurdles and high jump. Scott - Mortensen and Gus Lavaka helped in the shot put and also the Javelin.

With a lot of help from Shirley Hansen Riggs, The girls Track Team got into top shape. Tammy Olsen was strong in high jump and short distance running. Susan-Parker did well in hurdles and Julie Miles and Toni Rodriguez were both very strong in long distance running and had a good year. Laura Neeley and Lori - Blackburn were really strong in field events and had a successful season. We had a lot of new people with determination and spirit.

The Cross Country Team seems to be growing as runners from Granger seek to "strengthen themselves both physically and mentally." Cross Country combined their efforts to come out 2nd in region and 10th in state. Coach Larry Tiffany commented that the team was "Excellent!" and "they had a very good season!"

A lot of work and training goes into being a good runner. Cross country requires workouts that involve running from 7-12 miles, 3 times a week. Runners were encouraged to work on speed as well as distance in their workouts.

All of the Cross Country meets were held in Salt Lake and runners would average 2.8 to 3.1 miles per race. Individual runners were encouraged to participate in additional invitational meets for extra training.

Being a runner requires a lot of self motivation and self discipline. Congratulations to those members of our cross country team for a super season.

Tennis Hits It Off

Tina Jensen catches the ball in motion

The Women's Tennis Team wasn't as successful as they had hoped it to be, however, the girls tried very hard. They did well considering there were only four girls on the team. Many matches were won but many were forfeited because of the lack of participation. The girls showed dedication and worked hard throughout the season.

This year The Mens Tennis Team was the best in recent years with all but two lettermen returning from last year. Dave Johnston returned after playing #1 singles and some doubles last year. He is joined by Joel Johnson, Scott Eliason, Rick Clawson, Charles Murillo, Brett Talbot, and Steve Aslami who are the other varsity players returning. Some of the other players who showed great promise were, Doug Tolman, Mike Puhl, Paul Miller, John Mendez, Kevin Marshall, Chad Nelson, My Ta, Chris De Wall, and the "shortest" guy Larry Thorpe. All-in all it was an outstanding year and a chance to get revenge for a few close losses last year. "I feel we can qualify all of our top Varsity players in State tournament later in the spring," says Coach James.

Rhonda Lee Anderson was again the proud coach of this years Gymnastic Team. Twirling on a bar and balancing on a four inch beam, four feet off the ground wasn't easy, but our team knew how to make it look that way. The girls who made the team knew that they must compete all around. Mastering all four events became quite a challenge. The events included beam, vault, floor exercise and bars. Gymnastics is a very demanding sport. Gymnasts have to build and tone almost every muscle in their body to make their sport as graceful as possible. Congratulations to every member of the 1983 Gymnastics team for the great efforts put forth.

Waterpolo Makes Waves

Okay boss! I gotcha

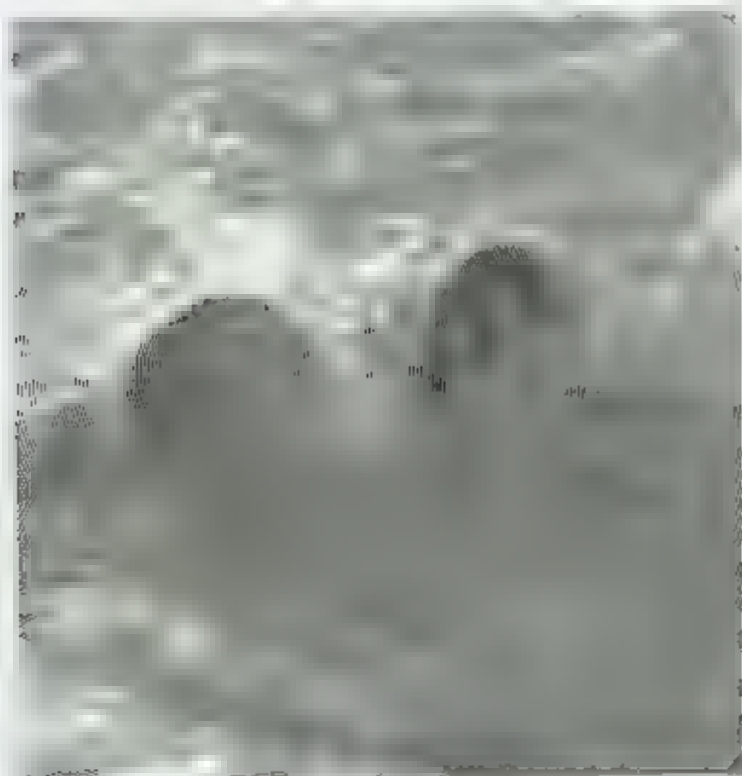

This year saw a much improved Granger team with more balance than the last several years. Sparked by senior co-captain and All-State team member Colby Wetenkamp and co-captain Kelly Freebairn, the Lancers put on a fine showing during the short season. Tournament play saw Granger advance into the quarter finals, only to be eliminated by 2nd place Skyline in a close 8-12 game. While losing many seniors for next year, Coach Rolan remains optimistic "with the experience the younger players were able to gain this year, next year should be as good or better than this."

Hampered once again by low numbers and a very inexperienced team, the Granger women were able to pull out only one win this season. "It's a shame to see those girls put in all of the time and effort for such a small return" said Coach Rolan, "but we hope experience this year will pay off in the future; we've got some promising prospects."

Granger's divers put forth their best efforts in competing this year, and did really well

Woman's Swimming: If one measured success and accomplishment by a team's win-loss record, our woman's swimming squad wouldn't rank very high, but, if one looked a little deeper at the individual successes and improvements, he would look very good! With only one swimmer returning from last year's team, our women had a tough job ahead of them, yet they did quite well. After nearly 500 hours and half a MILLION yards of training this year. The team reached fifth place in Region, and in State they finished in the top 10, with team captain Lori Casper and sophomore Paige Barnes scoring in two events each

Our men finished with an impressive third place at the District Invitational in January, and looked to repeat this at Region, with fourth in State being their goal. Outstanding performers this year included Mike Ayers, Craig Cole, Kelly Freebairn, Kyle Green, Allan Thurber and Colby Wetenkamp, all of whom were expected to do quite well at State.

Varsity Volleyball

This year the volleyball team enjoyed a very successful season with Teresa Mitchell and Joanne Sullivan as co captains leading the team. The Lady Lancers finished fourth in region and ended with sixth in the state tournament winning the Consolation Championship, with four seniors, three juniors, and one sophomore. Lettering with determination and hustle, the Lancers went through their best seasons ever, breaking the school record wins in a season, winning three games at state along with two trophies for the first time in Granger's history. The team grew in both experience and confidence, win or lose, every player learned that she must give a hundred percent of everything she can to achieve the goal, "success within yourself"

Coach Mike Foister and assistant coach Kevin Christensen expect big things from the baseball team in '83. Returning starters from last year's team which finished in the top five at state are: Scott VanOrden, Greg Wilder, Darren Woodard, Brian Joy, Mitch Larsen, and Chuck Embley. Others returning are Keith Eyre and Pat Sheehan. Juniors who are expected to see considerable action are Jeff Willardsen, Pat O'Malley and Todd Steele, Mike Wilding, a sophomore, could see considerable action also. The #1 goal of the team was a state championship which was well within reach. The many hours of hard work hopefully will pay off in 1983.

In this school there were some special athletes who put forth their best efforts and gave their all in competing. These were the outstanding Senior Athletes. They showed true spirit; they worked hard and should be recognized as such. The Outstanding Senior Athletes page has been set aside for the Senior players who helped to make the Silver Anniversary of Granger The best year in sports ever!

The J.V. Cheerleaders were a dedicated group who cheered our J.V. teams to victory. Cindy Reiter was the head cheerleader, but each one of the cheerleaders added a unique flavor to the very talented team. They received a superior rating at their summer camp, and it's lucky they're only juniors so we'll have the chance to see them out there again next year, a J.V. squad of unbeatable quality.

What are the Jr. Highs doing? If we judge from this years Sophomore Cheerleaders it's all good. They won a superior rating in the summer competition. Led by Leisa Mayhew they cheered at each game with positive attitudes. They did a fantastic job in supporting the sophomore class and representing Granger's sports. They helped to make Granger High School #1!

This year the J V. football team enjoyed a very successful season. During the middle of the season, however, Mitch Mills, (quarterback) had to quit due to a torn disc. But he was replaced by Pat O'Mally who played the positions of inside linebacker, quarter back and also full back. The team had outstanding performances by; Rick Searle, Todd Neilsen and Gorden Dixon. There were a lot of mix-ups due to the changing of players. But they took second in region losing only to Olympus and Granite. All in all it was a rewarding experience for the players

This J.V. wrestling season provided every wrestler many opportunities to gain some experience on the mat. As a team, it was a very successful season and many of the wrestlers who started the year as a J.V. finished the year as a varsity wrestler. The coaches were impressed with the fact that 5 of these qualified for the state tournament. Few teams in the state can boast of a wrestling program with the depth of this team.

Our J.V. team hard at work

The J.V. volleyball season was frustrating at times, puzzling at other times and always unpredictable. J.V. volleyball can be a frustrating experience for the players because of the coaches constant search for special talents and the "right combinations". This frequent change in line-ups often doesn't allow time for the mold to set and the team to gel. With every athletic endeavor, there are always some surprises that come through the season. Granger High J.V. was no exception.

There were some disappointments along the way as we lost to some teams we expected to beat; but happy surprises in individuals as well as the team were just as common. Outstanding performances by Kim Olsen, Kristy Whitworth, Lori Blackburn, and Angela Parker were common. Laura Neeley, Ronnie Jorgensen, Melissa Bawden, Lisa Bonella and Monique Helphenstine also contributed greatly to the team effort as did Cindy Butler, Tammy Olsen and Jennifer Potts who played varsity as well as J.V.

"An apple a day keeps the doctor away!" According to the '82-'83 Madrigals as they sang their way through another great year.

"An apple a day" was a TV commercial made by the MADS for the Utah Hospital Association. Another unique thing about the '83 Madrigals is that they performed an original composition written by Richard Smith. "Twenty-five Years Young" was the song executed commemorating Grangers twenty-fifth anniversary.

Mads experienced growling stomachs and hunger pains as they practiced right through their lunch period to prepare for their "Love Boat" cruise. They toured California and then went on a cruise through San Diego and Mexico. They really worked hard and reaped many good rewards from their practices.

Soo . . . If you are leisurely walking down the hall, and you think you're followed by a songbird, turn around. It may just be a Madrigal.

You may have seen 23, purple beings dancing in the halls, moving about in strange ways to the beat of an off the wall mixture of sounds that dominates their bodily actions. Chances are you have come in contact with an extraterrestrial colony or perhaps you have met up with the Granger High Dance Company. To identify them; they are led by a long blonde haired woman with a notable personality, Mrs. Nancy Tanner. Many of the beings happen to be cheerleaders, gymnasts, singers, and students. But the most important factor in identification would be, they all have matching yellow sweats with the Granger High Dance Company logo. So what if you thought you were the first to come in contact with an actual colony of beings from outer space, what could better than 23, good looking girls in lascivious unitards

Dance Company began in the spring before the performing year. Extensive tryouts were held to sift through the many dancers that wished for 'Fame'. Finally the troupe was chosen and positions for officers were filled. This year the Dance Company President, Vice President, Treasurer and Historian were in the mentioned order; Alayne

Bangerter, Sheri Bloomquist, Jennifer Christensen, and Jackie Lloyd. On the creative side, the costume designers for the 82' 83' season were Michelle Martin, Dori Paluso, and Kelly Winslow. They were the individuals responsible for the non-conventional and extremely exciting Company costumes of a brilliant yellow and a voluptuous shade of purple.

The team practiced year round for one main performance, the Dance Concert, which was held in the Spring of the season. Mrs. Tanner said that the audience was put into consideration for the success of the concert. Each dance that was chosen has to suffice the variations of age groups of the audience, to make it go over well. The Company uses Novelty, Abstract Modern Slow, and Jazz dance routines to accomplish this task. The concert was held April 28 and 29, with combined talents, hours of dedication, and loyalty to the goal of the troupe, "Excel in Dance". The concert was one of the highlights of the 82'-83' year. Mrs. Tanner was really proud of her girls and would like to see them go on to bigger and better things in life. And if that future included dance, all the better!

Drill Team was lead by Janna Fainer as President who comments, "This is a group of very hard working girls."

Their many performances include National Competition in Santa Monica, California, Cyprus Invitational Competition and their annual production of Pizazz.

Grangers Excaliburs have achieved excellence in all their endeavors. This year has proven very beneficial for the team.

SPIRIT CLUB IS ON THE MOVE

Sparkling with enthusiasm and spirit, this years Spirit Club has come through with stars. Made up of 50 girls, Spirit Club has emphasized more than ever this year, minor sports as well as the major ones

Their advisor, Nancy Tanner and assistant advisor, Rhonda Lee Anderson have done a super job this year. Spirit Club marched in both the Homecoming and Christmas parades as well as the traditional Homecoming Drill. This group of girls has improved in both appearance and performance for competition held in March. Clubs from other schools competed along with Granger in routines

This year a new program was started by the Spirit Club officers. The girls were divided into groups of six and each group went to different minor sports. This program helped to promote more school spirit and support at the minor sports games

HERO stands for Home Economics Related Occupations. Both Male and Female members have home economics classes to help prepare them for future family life. The club promotes such activities as quilt tying and cooking parties. Special speakers are invited to inform members on fashion design, nutrition and child care.

HERO sponsors many conventions throughout the year, including the Free Enterprise Convention held this year in Salt Lake.

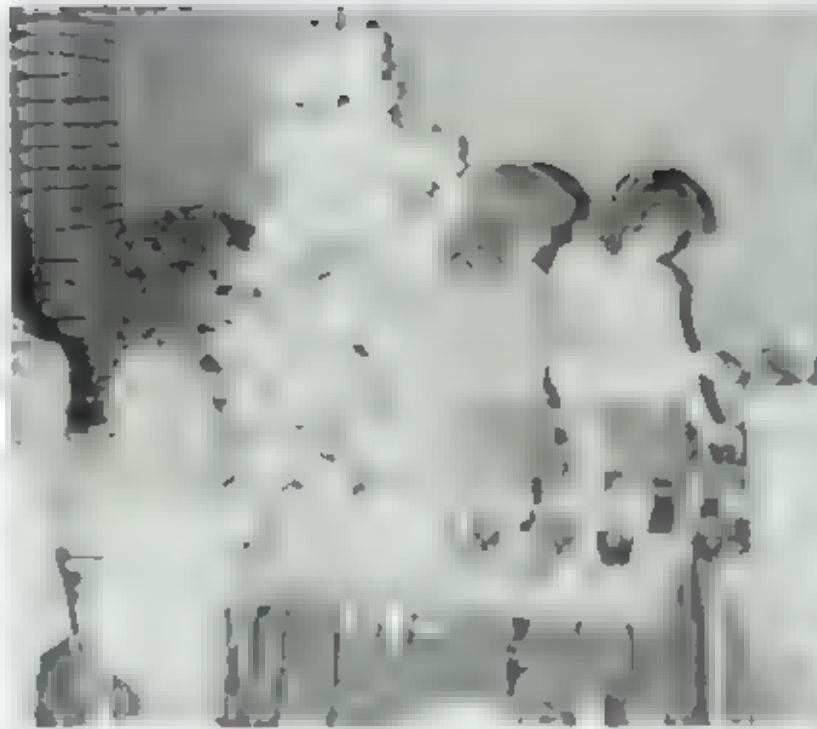

HERO members strive for excellence in all aspects of family life because they believe that the future of America lies in the home. They stress the importance of family life through their various activities and meetings.

Occupational Foods

I love this class. Very few classes are for students to practice business skills. Students leave this class knowing a lot more about how to work, how to be a good employee, and how to run a business. They understand the stresses of their bosses more and appreciate the job they have . . . I like seeing students grow up . . . grow from knowing very little about the world of work . . . to being capable to be a store manager. Many of my students are making it very big in the business world and I am proud of them.

Are Really Cookin'

Occupational foods, also known as The Food Locker, Vocational foods, and Food Service, is a program that is funded through Federal Grants awarded to the State of Utah, delegated by the State Board of Education, out to Granite Schools, and then to Granger. The "Food Factory" is an actual business, the bosses from the Granite School District are Almira Barksdale, and Clive Jensen.

The purpose of the class are

- To expose the students to as many food businesses as possible
- To have students run a business in school
- To study business finances
- To be as creative as possible
- To learn unusual cooking
- To learn quality cooking
- To learn how to work as a team
- To learn not to shun work ... to go the extra mile

To relate their job experience after school with business behaviors learned in class.

Everyone in the class was a manager at some time during the year. This job held a great deal of responsibility. They were in charge of employees, food sales, and advertising.

The Restaurant, "Santa's Kitchen" was a wonderful success. It was the first time in six years that the restaurant made a slight profit. Much is contributed to the growth of the advisor Mercy Buttorf, but much was to the ability of the students not to eat the food, to care about their customers, their class, their stations, and their business.

Occupational foods chose to sell items, such as the popular Ham & Cheese sandwiches and Sweetrolls, three days out of every month. Except December, when the restaurant opened, and the students got to spend their profits on gingerbread houses for themselves, or to give to someone.

The Food Locker kept food coming all year long and gave Granger High customers a big smile. It was truly a great success.

Everybody is working hard rolling dough for gingerbread houses.

For Drama Club members, competing in dramatic and humorous readings could earn them a chance at State. These students participated in acting at Weber State College and Southern Utah State College in Cedar City.

Other interesting things Drama Club members do include studying and critiquing the Oscar Nominee movies, acting out skits and even directing their own plays.

Some of the club members excelled through out the year with Joell Hansen taking a first place in the humorous interp, Schelly Schoenfeld placing second in dramatic interp and as a semi-finalist in dramatic interp, Shann Collotzi. These awards were given at a Golden Spike Competition in Ogden.

Tri-Color Times

There are a bunch of crazy students this year who put together the school newspaper. On a regular day one of them can be found either writing frantically or out doing interviews.

Tri-Color Times worked hard to put out a good newspaper throughout the year. If that sounds unbelievable, try typing a 200 word story with no white out. These future journalists worked hard on each deadline which included fighting for a typewriter, counting words or printing a negative backwards

These 18 students learned a lot about what goes into publishing a paper. Their illustrious leader, Mr. Crooks taught the staff how to organize a page, and how to avoid bumping headlines. One staff member commented, "I learned a lot this year in Journalism, but most of all I learned how to meet a deadline and still come out smiling." Hey, pass the chips back here

Accolade is a group of fourteen students who put together a collection of literary works known as the Accolade. It consists of art, poetry, photography, short stories, essays and music. Besides putting together the Accolade, the staff studies all forms of writing, strengthens their vocabularies and takes an in-depth look at Shakespeare and his works. The co-editors of Accolade are Michele Moran and Donna Harmon. Patty Sargent is the advisor. Cheers to the Accolade for the great job they have done this year.

Speak Your Mind In Debate

"I know I'm Right"

I before E except after C

"Neither rain, nor snow, nor sleet, nor hail . . ." If you think Debate is just another word for basketweaving, then you should rise with the Debate squad in the wee small hours of the morning and travel through the worst storm of the year to make a tournament. Imagine, if you will, countless hours spent cutting sheets of paper into little bits and pasting them to cards

Debate is one of the most mentally exhausting activities imaginable. It can also be one of the most rewarding. A lot of hard work and true devotion goes into being a debator. Staying up all night writing speeches and sacrificing weekends are all a part of many tournaments held all over the Salt Lake Valley. Debate also traveled to Berkley and SCU to compete

Some of the most important tournaments include Governors Cup, State tournament, and the University of Utah Invitational. Debate involves choosing an issue doing research and then debating either for or against the issue

Special Thanks to Bonnie Gailey, Advisor, for all her hard work

Barbara Ishimatsu

During the month of June, a few students from Granger had the opportunity to learn about our system of government at Girls and Boys State. According to Lisa Kilburn, one of the participants, "It was a great eye opener to the complex process used to run our country."

Girls State was held at SUSC, June 6-12, while Boys State was held at USU on the same days. The students were selected from many applicants from Granger. Students were divided into Cities and during the course of the week they were elected and appointed to various government offices.

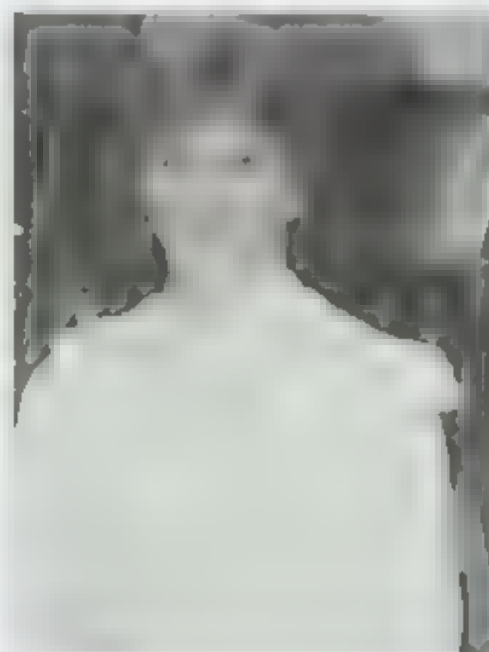

"Spending a week in June wearing dresses with 300 other girls and no males brought out the other side of our personalities," says Barbara Ishimatsu. A lot of work and time went into both Boys and Girls State. When it was all over "everyone had a greater feeling of self worth and an increased appreciation and respect for our Country."

"ALL ROADS LEAD TO ROME

Whether it be German, Latin, French, or Spanish, Granger High's language clubs have it all

Latin Club members gain a better understanding of Roman Culture and have further enjoyment of mythology. This club is a supplement to regular latin culture and refinement studies

Investigating the food, movies and customs of France is the main purpose of the French Club. Many members even go to France to further their education

Pinata parties and food from Spain make up most of Spanish Club's activities. Learning about the Latin-American Culture is the main objective of the Spanish Club

German Club enjoys field trips to local German restaurants and downtown movies. Special guest speakers from Germany also influence the members

So, to the language clubs of Granger. 'Adios,' 'Auf Wiedersehen,' 'Val,' and 'Au-revoir'!!

Foreign Friends

American football is a completely new game for Ulf Ewaldson, a student from Sweden. He enjoys it very much. Some of the things he likes most about the United States are the people, the cars, the food and the girls. Ulf graduated from Swedish High School two years ago and he hopes to graduate from Granger also. Like other Americans, he eats cereal for breakfast and watches MASH in the evenings. He said, "One day I would like to live in America."

The House That Granger Built

On Sierra Grande Circle at 3013 W., a corner lot, sits a newly built house. It boasts of 1600 square feet all brick designed in Rambler style and was priced at a mild $90,000. One may ask 'Why so much?' Reason? Fully decorated and very well built. And another may ask 'What's so different about this house?' Reason? It was built by Granger High Students, under the direction of Greg Dehaan; builder and Karol Meryhew, interior director.

Skills gained in class by the Vocational Building group were used to provide the home with its exterior core. After fourth period, the group traveled to the house's location and worked on its construction. After a couple of months, the house was completed. The finished product brought browsers even before the interior design class stepped in.

The builders of the group were Tommy Sotor, Scott Meyer, Traci Johnson, Marty Garcia

Marty Sorensen, Julie Harryman and Sam Companyo. The list rolls on with Eric Yarbrough, Derek Nelson, Brian Sinclair, Robbie Webb, Chris Smith, Joan Nelson, Keith Parker, Craig Oswald, and Doug Heyrend.

Occupational Interior Design then stepped in, to decorate the house. Using two of the most popular colors of the year, "Slate Blue", and "Mediterranean Blue", the students in the course actually decorated the interior of the house built Onlookers watch closely as Marty Sorensen carefully measures the levelness of a closet frame.

Advisor Greg Dehaan

LEADERS

Principal Leads With A Smile

As we celebrate the 25th year of Granger High School, we look back on a rich heritage of establishing roots and tradition. As we look forward to the next 25 years, we expect to branch out even further as an influence in the community and in the lives of several thousand people. Granger High School is what you students make it-no more, no less. With the influence for good citizenship, respect for the individual, and love for our country as an integral part of a Granger High education, our students will go forth as leaders in the community, the state and the nation. The future for students is limitless.

Vice Principals Sustain That Smile

Mr. Gurr

The purpose of education is to prepare us for our chosen place in society. To expose us to many philosophies, thus giving us a base from which to select our future roll in this culture. We never stop learning. Those we admire, and those who have contributed the most have continually increased their knowledge and understanding. It is my fervent hope we have met your needs and aspirations. I hope you leave Granger a more capable, more interesting, and more knowledgeable person than you were the day you entered this high school.

Mr. Jacobs

A reflection of this past year brings many memories. Memories are what make our lives worthwhile. None of us do anything to make a bad memory. We strive for remembrances, consciously or unconsciously, that bring us delight. As you wander through the pages of this yearbook a picture will spark a memory or a feeling that will last forever. Your year and our year at Granger has been a success if you can look back and say, "I have some great memories of 1982-1983."

Counselors Come To The Rescue.

Miss Wallace:

"This is Granger High's twenty fifth year and this is my seventh year as a counselor here. Each has been different and enjoyable. I'm sure we have all grown from our experiences here at Granger."

Mr. Palmer:

"Counselors are just teachers who have lost their class."

Mrs. Cononelos:

"Twenty five years have gone by and deep roots have been established at Granger High. The next twenty five years will be years of change and added growth."

Mr. Gonzales:

"A Little lost Coach."

Miss Ramsey:

"Caring, understanding, self worth are not pursued for wealth; but to create character."

Mr. Whitlock:

"Vice President of the GHS Lint Collecting Club, member of Carp Fishermen of America. When seen in his jockey shorts, he might be mistaken for Jim Palmer."

Secretaries: All Business And Still Our Type!

Mrs. Rocco is Granger High's receptionist. She handles all telephone calls, the district budget and she pays all of Granger's employees. She also types purchase orders and is in charge of substitutes.

Mrs. Thomas is the bookkeeper here at Granger. She pays all the bills and handles the school's money.

Mrs. Henderson is the administrative secretary. She is in charge of phone calls, correspondence and the district reports. She also handles all keys and teacher supplies.

Mrs. Wagner is the counseling and attendance secretary. She maintains all the attendance records and keeps the counselors on their toes.

Mrs. Johnston is Granger's librarian. She helps students enrich their reading skills and houses people who desire a quiet place to study or read.

Mrs. Hansen is the librarian's secretary. She is in charge of processing books, typing letters for the librarian and ordering all buses for activities and field trips.

Career Center Keeps Us Going

Helen Taylor

Shanna Hart

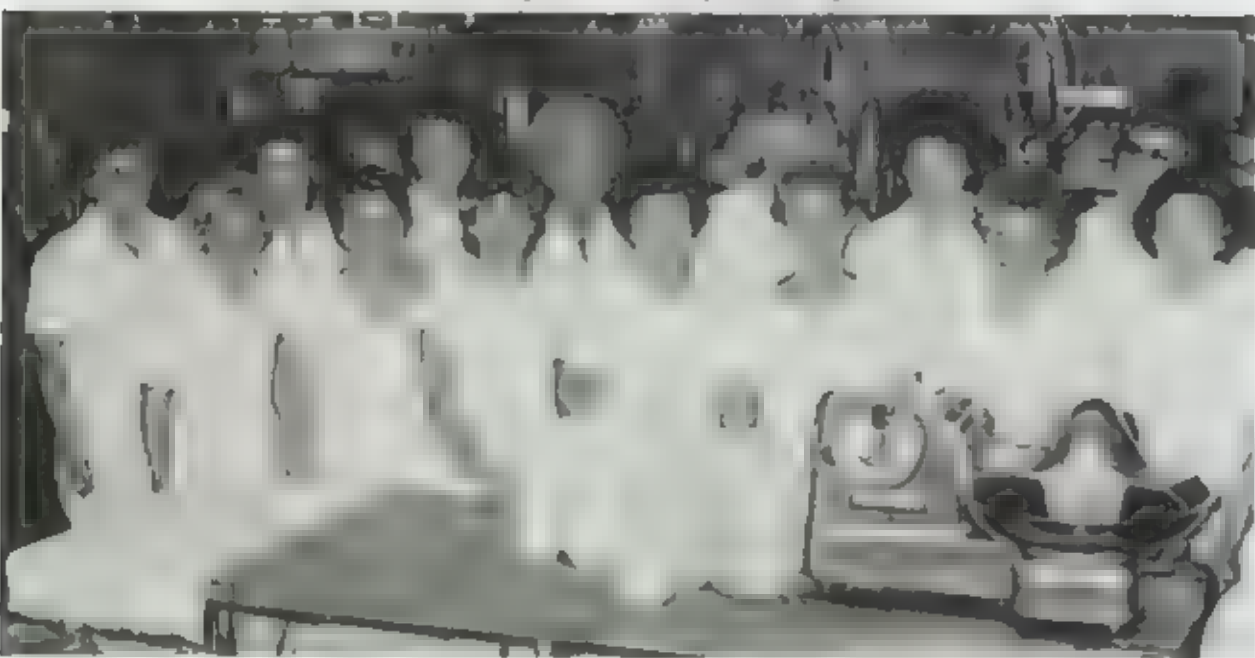

The Career Center is a place where students can explore career possibilities. Mrs. Taylor operates it. She helps the kids set goals and apply to colleges for scholarships. She gives interest and aptitude tests and arranges seminars. She also maintains the job board. Mrs. Hart is the Career Center secretary. She maintains the files, sends for new information and materials and also helps maintain the job board.

Maintenance & Lunch Ladies Show their Stuff

The custodial staff and lunch ladies provide our school with many important but unappreciated services. We would like to thank them for the time and effort they put in, in keeping our school great.

Throughout Twenty-five Years Of Glory

Have you ever slept through a whole class and given thought to the preparation applied to the lesson? Not too many sleeping beauties take into account the time installed by their teachers

Keep in mind that teachers do care about their lessons as well as their students but do students realize that teachers are people too?

Let the teachers tell you their own stories

Gordon Anderson: "Granger High School has come a long way since we opened it up. The first few weeks I was teaching chemistry and math and the students had to sit on the floor. We had no desks for them. All we had was the main building which also included the auto mechanics and shops. The library was upstairs

Aside from my work, one of my main interests is traveling on cruises with my wife, Claudell. One result of going on cruises was a renewed interest in dancing. For the last ten years, my wife and I have been going out dancing almost every Friday and Saturday evening to good old live ballroom

music

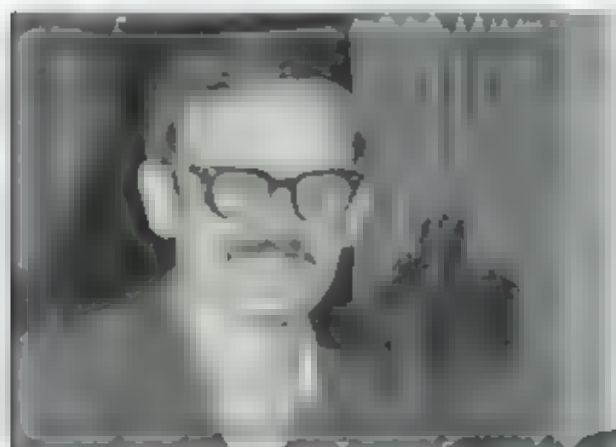

My last years in World War II were spent in the armored infantry in General Patton's Third Army. I was wounded severely at the Battle of the Bulge. After this I spent six months in the hospital in England. After the war ended in Europe I was discharged from the hospital and sent to SHAEF headquarters in Frankfurt, Germany for limited duty. By chance, I was assigned to be General Eisenhower's personal messenger. I spent the rest of my army life there until I was discharged and sent home."

Rhondalee Anderson: "I was born and raised in Murray Utah. In elementary I was hop-sotch champion for my school and was a good teather ball player

In junior high I sang in many programs around the valley

In high school at Murray I was a J.V. Cheerleader and drill mistress for the drill team. I sang in the concert choir and was a member of the All State Choir

I went to Dixie College and was Vice President of the Rebelettes the drill team. I graduated from Dixie with my A.S. degree

Granger High's Faculty Has Always

From there I went to the University of Utah and made the drill team the Utahns and studied in the field of physical education with an emphasis in gymnastics and a minor in psychology. I received my B.S. degree in 1977. I went to Weber State and received my teaching certificate and second major in psychology.

I have been teaching at Granger for four and a half years and love it. I love all sports and play most of them. I enjoy hunting and fishing and camping. I got my first deer this year and am very proud of it. I love to cook and sew and make hand made crafts. I love to be crazy and try different things. I enjoy laughing and teasing people."

Kenneth J. Goates: Mr. Goates was born at a very early age, a fact for which (he maintains) his mother was always very grateful.

His early years were spent at Saratoga, a swimming resort west of Lehi. Here he learned to swim at the age of two and to dive off the high dive at five.

He and his brother claim the distinction of performing the world's first T.P. job. It seems they climbed atop the old dance hall at Saratoga with arms of toilet paper, and let them unwind and roll down the high, steep roof—a spectacular sight!

Mr. Goates later lived on a turkey farm in Lehi, which proved to be extremely valuable training for his present teaching job.

Mr. Goates came to Granger High in 1965 with a B.A. degree and has since earned his M.A. degree. Besides teaching German, English, and swimming, Mr. Goates enjoys archery, chess, weight lifting, swimming, bicycle riding, and collecting ancestors.

Louise Hess: Louise Hess has taught for thirty-six years in elementary, junior high and high school.

She likes high school best and enjoys the classroom experience with teenagers.

Mrs. Hess relishes a genuine argument and delights in valid and sound thinking. Also, she is enthralled with language.

She is positive that young people are every bit as capable and willing today as they were three decades ago.

Harold Higgins: "It is not without a certain amount of nostalgia that I leave Granger High after twenty-five years. During this time I have worked with several principals, hundreds of teachers and thousands of wonderful students

During this time I have also taught ornithology for the National Audubon Society been a botanist and ornithologist on the University of Utah's Colorado River studies. I have also studied meters for the Colorado State University, Seeger Companies, as well as important statements for several oil companies

I have published some seventy scientific articles, on mites, birds, scorpions, and conservation. At the present time I have described three new families, and sixty-five new species of animals. The highlight of my career was when I presented two papers before the thirty-eight nations attending the V International Congress of Oceanology."

Gary Jensen: "I was born and raised in Parowan, a small town in Southern Utah. I graduated from high school at age sixteen (at the end of my junior year) and I was honored as a National Merit Scholar

I attended Southern Utah State College, where I majored in mathematics for two years, then changed to music education. While at SUSC I was active in music and drama, playing trombone in the Concert Band and Jazz Ensemble, and singing tenor in the Accapella Choir and Chamber Choir. I played Prince Dauntless in "Once Upon A Mattress". Was a Russian dancer in "Fiddler on the Roof" and sang a minor lead in the opera "Carmen", among other performances

After graduation, I taught at Hurricane High School for four years, at Parowan High School for four years, spent one year at BYU (where I was band director and pianist for the Young Ambassadors) and then came to Granger High (this is my fifth year here).

My hobbies are music, chess, science fiction and fantasy and sports (basketball and tennis especially). I also perform as vocalist and keyboardist with the dance band "Portrait" high school French and drama classes. The Louvre Museum was the place where I got most of my art motivation. On location at important sites throughout Europe, I was taught history.

More arts experience included ten years with the BYU International Folk Dancers, who took me back to Europe on their first European tour. I remember well dancing on the same program with the famed Kiev Ballet of Russia.

I studied French, art and communications at BYU married; then taught my first year at Vernal Junior High. In these last thirteen years I have enjoyed teaching and being involved in Granger High's activities.

Ross Madsen: "Writing about yourself can be depressing unless you become creative. I have adopted the motto 'DON'T GIVE A STRAIGHT ANSWER TO ANY QUESTIONS AND YOU'LL NEVER BE ACCUSED OF BEING NORMAL.'"

To explain that you were born in Gunnison Utah, moved to Murray and graduated from Murray High School, receive a B.A. and an M.Ed from the University of Utah, have a wife, four children, and no pets wouldn't normally make for great literature. So creatively speaking here are my vital statistics.

Maxine Newton: Maxine Newton is a "go-getter" in every sense of the word. Her work is never done. This exceptional lady has accomplished a great deal.

She has devoted a lot of her time and skills to making Granger a better place. Mrs. Newton made Sir Lancer's costume and Santa's attire for the Christmas assembly. She also spent many devoted hours making uniforms for both drill team and spirit club.

Mrs. Newton has taught at Granger High for fourteen years. She has been a great asset to the Future Homemakers of America through out these fourteen years

Maxine Newton has made a lot of contributions to Granger High. She is a super teacher and a terrific lady

Jim Paulk: "I entered Granger High School with Visions of grandeur. The class of 64 was going to rewrite history. I was doing my part early by getting suspended several times for activities ranging from being lowered out of a second story window in a garbage can playing "bombs-a-way", to blowing the sink off the wall in the chemistry room (how'd I know sodium explodes on contact with water). When faced with the option of finding another alma mater or cleaning it up, I felt it best to seek a more positive but possibly less flamboyant path to fame and fortune. So with a "What the heck" attitude, I ran for student body officer. I won! Now I'm cool right? So how come I didn't get better looking, or grow more muscles, or something anything! There I was, still homely, still skinny, no "S" on my chest, not even hair! I was just the same Dissolutionment personified

They said homely and skinny couldn't stop me from playing ball here so I went for it. Basketball and baseball. I had loved athletics since before birth and I decided that Wilt Chamberlain and Babe Ruth were in big trouble. Fame, fortune glory, and most of all, women were just around the corner. I had a bottle of Listerine on the shelf in a ready position anticipating the rush. There was no rush and Chamberlain and Ruth had nothing to worry about. There I was, stuck with reality again. But after three hard years of fun and games, I did win a trip to the state basketball tournament, a position on the Deseret News Little All-State Basketball Team, and a spot on the "Ten Most Wanted Men" list put out by the ALI (Associated Lancer Ladies). At last, my claim to fame!

When graduation day arrived we hadn't rewritten history but we did earn our place in it. We graduated with a pocket full of memories, a gullet full of nostalgia, and a belly full of chin quivering, eye sweating, "I'll never see you again!" dribble that all classes go through. But this time it was special because it was ours crookin my way through college, Don Snow flexed a little muscle and I was hired as his assistant and came back to Granger to coach basketball, track, and teach a little business in my spare time. I've been here thirteen years now and I'm still proud to be a Lancer.

Stan Penrod: "My interests are my family, sports, as a spectator, and participant, outdoor activities of hiking camping and hunting. I graduated from Provo High, joined U S M C. When I was discharged I married a lovely young lady and settled in Salt Lake City. I worked for Husky Oil Co Utah Boys Ranch and county recreation, and graduated from The University of Utah. I taught school in Jordan School District for two years. After that I taught in Star Valley Wyoming for five years and worked for the Forest Service during the summer. This is my fifth year at Granger High.

I have enjoyed working here, the kids are really decent, caring people. I have a lot of faith in their potential for becoming responsible citizens. It is rewarding to me to be a small part in helping them reach that potential.

Don Snow: "The high schools that I attended were Dixie and BYU High School. I played varsity basketball and football.

I attended Brigham Young University and Lettered in basketball and football. I graduated from BYU in 1946 with a BS degree. I earned my Masters degree at BYU in 1954.

I have taught at Milford High for one year in all sports. At North Summit High School for two years in all sports. Also at BYU High for nine as the head basketball coach, the assistant football coach. I also coached tennis and track at BYU High School.

Here at Granger I have been the head basketball coach for 14 years. Helped assist football, track, and tennis.

I have been at Granger since the school opened and I have really enjoyed it and the wonderful students here.

All five of my children, three daughters and two sons, have graduated from Granger High. Both sons played varsity basketball for Granger. My youngest daughter participated in volleyball.

Gene Sorenson: He was born in Burlington North Carolina on August 31 of 1931. He has lived in Utah most of his life and attended South Emery Elementary, South Emery Junior High and South Emery High School

He was in the Air Force from 1950 to 1954

The colleges he attended were C S U. during 1954 to 1956, also Utah State in

1957, to 1959

When his schooling was finished he taught school at South Emery High for five years. After teaching at South Emery he moved to Granger with his wife and three children in 1961. Mr Sorenson has resided here ever since

Steve Smith: "I was born in Salt Lake City and attended South High. I played football and was on the track team. Also, I was an editor on the newspaper and literary magazines. I attended the University of Utah where I received my B A. in English and sociology

My favorite pastimes included traveling, hunting (geese!), reading and movie going. I also dabble in fiction and poetry writing

My interest in teaching began in junior high. After college, my teaching career was interrupted by positions in hotel-casino management and judicial education support

My special interests in English include contemporary American writers, and the teaching of basic writing. I'm pleased as punch to be a Lancer!"

Ferris Hayes: "I graduated from the "U" in 1967 with a major in mathematics and a minor in Spanish. Since then I have taught all math classes and this year I am teaching a computer science class. I have never taught Spanish. However I do get the opportunity to use Spanish once in a while-which I enjoy

I really enjoy Granger High. Its the best school around I think we have the best math department in the state. The other math teachers are really good to work with. The math students think that math is a little bit hard at times. I don't know where they got

Psychologically speaking, which he often did, no one could understand why he enjoyed his hobbies of out-doorsy stuff, reading, talking, figuring ways to make his eight million, having grown up on the first seven due to lack of funds and listening to music which no self respecting student could stand

When asked how he wanted to be remembered he often replied: Skulking about in the halls constantly looking over his shoulder. Able to write chalkboards full of gib-

Education's Path. Lancer Faculty Will

After moving to the ski town I quit skiing and took up horseback riding. I also like reading, sewing and collecting junk.

I've been teaching thirteen years. The first three years I taught in a special program for high school dropouts, then I came to Granger. I've taught Sophomore World History, Junior American History and now I teach mostly sociology because there are so many interesting and relevant topics.

I like the students and faculty at Granger High and sincerely think there's not a better group in the state. I don't think the students at this school are as proud of themselves as they should be. There's more of a respect for the individual here than at a lot of schools."

Sandy Oxtun: "Change and adaptation - these are the things which make life exciting and help us to grow."

Coming from Minnesota, a state of liberalism and freezing climates, brought about the necessity to adapt in a conservative, desert climate. My life has changed considerably, and every day presents me with a whole new gamut of tears and smiles, sighs and laugh.

I live in West Valley City with my two favorite beings, Sister and Buddy, canines both, but human in their behavior and responses. They are always ecstatic to see me, don't care much what I cook for dinner, and never get in trouble in school.

I was born on January 25 - a cold and blustery day, in Sharon, North Dakota. The hospital has since been converted to a barber shop with sleeping rooms upstairs, and the doctor has long since gone to that operating room in the sky.

Our family then moved to Moorhead, Minnesota, where I attended all 17 years of schooling, culminating with a B. S. degree in English Education from Moorhead State University (or more commonly known as "Moo-U")

Jobs were scarce in 1972, but fate was kind, and I signed a contract teaching English 10, 11, and 12, as well as speech. My duties also included supervising five squads of cheerleaders, directing a one-act play, and a three-act play, advising the Senior class, and coaching oral interpretation. I also assumed duties on the Curriculum Committee, The Continuing Education Committee, and the Administrative Council. Needless to say, time for socializing was at a premium, and I looked forward to my yearly trek to Utah to visit my brother and lie in the marvelously intense high altitude sun. It was a tan that lasted throughout the year, and often was the only motivation keeping me going through the arctic temperatures and demands of my time.

But these pressures took their toll and I soon concluded I must change (and adapt), or be admitted to an asylum. My likeliest choice was Salt Lake City, where over the years of vacationing I had made close friends and experienced the contentment within the geography.

The break from my lifetime home was at times, saddening; at others my spirit soared at the challenges and newness of the people and experiences. Living with my brother was a lifesaver, but I soon had to strike out on my own. Luckily, Granger High needed an English teacher when Mr. Riley resigned in mid November of 1979 and fate once again grinned its wry smile (with a sidelong wink, I'm sure).

Thus began a new chapter in my life full of nameless faces who would become students and ultimately friends. Those first weeks were trying for us all as we tried to adapt to change. But with each passing term smiling became more automatic and compliments and encouragement flowed more freely.

Although I am "old" by teenage standards, I often feel as young and carefree as my students. I love being with Granger's students because they teach of life, as well as learn of it. It's great to be reminded daily that life is worth living, and love is worth learning. By caring for and sharing with my students they have returned that vigilance tenfold.

Thanks, Granger High. You're very, very special."

It is simple to see that is take a lot to be a teacher.

For those who have dreams of becoming a teacher, here is some advice to take to the heart: to be as great as the mind builders of today.

Sterling

Twelve Seniors from Granger High School were chosen for Sterling Scholar because of their Scholastic excellence

These twelve students must complete a portfolio of their work, awards and recommendations, which will then be judged by both public school and college faculty

After the first group of finalist are chosen, the 180 scholars, from throughout the state, are again judged. This time it is decided who will be the 12 Sterling Scholars

The judging is based on the following criteria: 50% scholarship, 25% Citizenship and 25% for Leadership. The twelve winners receive cash scholarships to any school of their choice 120 members make up this year's Honor Society led by Sylvia Springer as president. Honor Society is a group of students who excel academically. To qualify, a student must maintain a 3.5 grade point average and must not receive a "U" citizenship grade.

Students who qualify are invited to join and pay a small membership fee. At a banquet members are presented with an official Honor Society Pin. Some activities that were planned this year included a lasanga party and a banquet.

Sylvia Springer, when asked about this group quoted, "We're really proud to have more members this year than last."

Juniors Have What It Takes

Juniors are great in their own unique way. They are no longer sophomores but not yet seniors

Since juniors were once sophomores they have no compassion for the younger generation. Yet they admire the seniors but also envy them, for they wish that they were on the threshold of reality

Granger's juniors have what it takes to be called a Lancer. They are spirited, athletic, smart, talented, and even good looking

Soon, very soon, the class of 84 will rule the school. Hopefully they will make their forefathers of Granger High proud of them

Sophomores; This One's For You

It is the first day of school. You are lost. You can't reach the dial of the combination to your locker. You go to lunch and take three deserts. The lunch lady sends you back with two. What Do You Do?

If you have recently had these symptoms of sophomorphism you are probably a sophomore.

Never fear class of 85. This disease is only temporary. By the time summer vacation is evident, self esteem will arrive. Feelings of being a whole person will once again reappear.

Being a sophomore is not all that it is put down to be. Some are even proud to be sophomores. To those five people, "this one's for you."

Through a lot of hard work, a little luck, and a terrific staff, the 1983 Shield was a complete success

'83 Shield Staff is made up of Mary Nelson, Debbie Staddart, Randy Florence, Jim Woodhead, Mark Hatfield, Teri Greenhalgh, Ryan Patterson, Connie Zeller, Brad Giles, Thuy Dang, Kristine Mortensen, Donalynn Schow, Gary Poulsen, Lynda Pierce, Teri Blachley, Angela Pistorius, Lisa Wittemund, and Debbie Magill. Special thanks goes to each person

As Editor of the Shield and on behalf of the entire staff I want to thank our "Mom", Mrs. Baskin. Without her we couldn't have done it. She was always there with a smile and a word of encouragement also, suckers from See's Candies. Thanks again Mom, we love you.

Much appreciation goes to Don Blair Photography for their patience and cooperation with us. We'd also like to recognize Jon Wilhelmsen, our representative from the Jostens American Yearbook Company, for all his help and concern and keeping us up on supplies. Also, thanks go to the administration, faculty, and students for all their cooperation with our staff.

Being Editor of the '83 Yearbook has been both a challenge and a pleasure. I hope you have enjoyed this year's Shield and will look back on it for years to come with pride for Granger High.

Thanks,
Patty Daw, Editor

IN MEMORY OF...

In everything Cindy set out to do she excelled. She loved her friends and family. Her caring personality won her many friends and they admired her.

Knowing a secret and looking forward to her Secret hour at Stranger were important to Cindy because she knew she had so much to offer and would get so much in return by being a great Cancer and a friend to all.

The Harris's

Cindy was a very special person. She came to Stranger for only a short time but while she was here she made an impression on everyone's life. We miss her smiles, personality and her warm presence.

The Grand High Court and Seabrooks

CINDY HARRIS

May 2, 1965 — June 2, 1982

The record is 25 years old now, its memories

are very priceless.

But this is not the end.

for like a circle the record is endless,

it will go on forever.

Sing hail to thee, our alma mater
Its memories so dear
The crimson red, the blue and gray
Will ever proudly linger here
Then go you Lancers
Here's the answer
Aim for victory
Your royal name will rise to fame
Upholding liberty
With heads held high
Our triumphs reach the sky
We'll honor and cherish forever
Dear Granger High

To a great mom, thank you Love,
Joe
